THE PRESIDENT'S ORDER. NOW IT IS RECEIVED BY CON-

Mr. Oleveland's Warning to Office Holders Not to gake an Active Part in Politics Doss Not Cause gach Comment—Mr. Morrison's Resolu-tics in Regard to the Surplus.

Washington, July 15.—[Special.]—Congress args on toward adjournment with a remarkable dearth of event and incident. The presidest's note of warning to effice holders hardly crated a sensation. It is in a line with all his declarations to members of congress who have consulted with him as to the qualifications of federal officials. Comparatively little was said about it at the capitol today. The opponents of the civil service idea speak lightly of the effort of the president to lift the plane of official virtue. The pronounced adtes of civil service reform in both parties highly commend the sentiments of this presi-dertial nkase. Many of the republican senators give the president credit for sincerity, but some of them incline to the opinion that the order will, to a considerable tent, be nullified, because high government officials of the democratic persuasion will not care to see it enforced. In other words, these enators do not believe that the order will reeive much support from authority below that of the executive, and they say that without the hearty co-operation of heads of bureaus, chief clerks, etc., it cannot be well enforced. The chief officials of the treasury, from ting Secretary Fairchild down, are commenting very severely on the Morrison reso-lution to reduce the surplus in the treasury, which passed the house yesterday. In the debate on this question, the republican opponents of the resolution were sup-plied with much material by these officials. The republicans are taunting the democrats with the fact that they are at war with the administration on this question. Nearly all the New York papers today have leading editorials severely condemning the action of the house in adopting the resolution, and appealing to the senate to defeat it. The Tribune and Times adopt the lan-guage of Mr. Hewitt and declare this to be a vote of want of confidence in th administration. The indications are that the resolution will pass the senate. It is positively asserted by its opponents that if it ever reaches the president it will be promptly vetoed, but this is as yet a mere conjecture based on the known opposition of the administration to the policy embodied in the resolution. The democrats of both houses are well nigh a unit in favor of the resolution, except nine New Yorkers and Messrs. Dibble, Dargan and Hemphili, of South Carolina, Seymore and Mitchell, of Connecticut, and Findlay, of Mary-the senate committee on commerce in yield-ing to the pressure against the river and harbor bill so far as to report in favor of a reduetion of 25 per cent in the appropriations agreed on by the senate. The committee is accused by the friends of the bill of a want of backbone.

PThere was a caucus of the friends of the Hennepin canal scheme tonight. They are confident of getting through their big grab, n the house to reverse their defeat in that in the house to reverse their defeat in that body if the river and harbor bill is ever taken up there again.

INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS.

The Senate-Devotes the Day to Rivers and Harbors.
Washington, July 15.—In the senate, Mr. Pogh, from the committee on privileges and elections, presented a report in the election

mr. Hoar, on behalf of himself and Mr.
Frye, presented dissenting views of the minarity, and Mr. Evarts made a separate report, presenting the views of himself, Messrs. Teller

All the reports were ordered printed in one document, and were placed on the calendar to be called up at any time, as privileged mat-The reports presented by Messrs. Pugh and Evarts agree in recommending that the committee be discharged from further consideration of the subject. The third report recommends investigation by the senate.

It appearing on a count that there was no quorum present, the roll was called and forty-six senators (more than a quorum) answered o their names.

Mr. Allison submitted a conference report ant. Allison submitted a conference report on the legislative appropriation bill, the committee agreeing upon all points in dispute between the two houses except as to the four following points: Clerks for senators (not chairmen of committees) at $6 a day for the session; ary of assistant treasurer at Baltimore (in reased by the senate to $4,500); appropriation for the clerks for the civil service commission, and relating to compensation of internal revenue agents, surveyors, etc.

The report was accepted, (closing all matters in dispute except as to these four points,) and the senate will further insisted on its dis-ten in dispute except as to these four points,) and the senate still further insisted on its disagreement with the house on these points.

The senate then resumed consideration of the river and harbor appropriation bill, the amendments adopted, as in committee of the whole, being the first to be disposed of.

The first point on which there was a division was on the amendment (offered originally by Mr. Ingalls) to the items for the Mississippi nver, and providing that the position of the Permeable works of contraction.

The amendment was adopted, yeas 32, nays

The next question was on an amendment diginally offered by Mr. Harrison) to the ameitem. It was to add to the proviso auborizing the commission to repair and build eves, if necessary to the navigation the comheree of river works, but not below the Maches which are being improved by them these it shall be necessary in order to prevent at close an injurious crewasse or outlet. Mr. Harrison's amendment was stricken out.

Pending debate, the house joint resolution

Prading debate, the house joint resolution extending temporary provision for the expenses of the government to July 31, was presented to the committee and passed.

The smendment offered by Mr. Hale, striking out section two, which legislated against dusping refuse matter in harbors, rivers or tibutary waters, was the next question that came up Instead of the section struck out had been inserted a provision authorizing the secretary of war to establish harbor lines, where not already established, and also to establish lines where deposits of debris of mines or samp works can be made without injury to having a samp works can be made without injury to having a samp works can be made without injury to having a samp described to—yeas 36, nays 11.

The smendments striking out sections 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 11 were all agreed to.

All the amendments agreed to by the senate promittee of the whole having been discreted of, the whole bill was open to amendments.

On motion of Mr. Logan the for the Illinois river was increased from $100,000 to $150,000. Mr. McMillan, chairman of the committee

Mr. McMillan, chairman of the committee on commerce, moved to strike out all after the enacting clause in the river and harbor appropriation bill and insert all the items now in the bill, except that in each case the amount is reduced twenty-five per cent. He explained that the amount of the house bill was, in round numbers, $15,000,000; the amount as reported by the committee on commerce, $18,000,000; the amount as a reported by the committee on commerce, $18,000,000; the amount as greed to by the senate in committee of the whole, $500,000 more, and that the amount under the proposed twenty-five per cent reduction would be $14,000,000.

Then again began a debate on the merits of the river and harbor bill, in the course of which Mr. McMillan said the committee believed that, in order to secure any river and harbor bill at this session, it was necessary to reduce the amount.

Mr. Eustis said that the senator from Minnegota had vaguely referred to the same dan-negota had vaguely referred to the same dan-ger to the bill if the proposed reductions were not made. He asked whether the danger existed in the senate or elsewhere.

Mr. McMillan-It does not exist in this

Mr. McMillan—It does not exist in this body, as I believe.
Mr. Eustis—Have you any more specific information as to danger "elsewhere" (whatever that may mean) than the other members of committee have?
Mr. McMillan—I have no more specific information.

committe have?

Mr. McMillan—I have no more specific information.

The debate was for sometime continued in an effort to ascertain whether the committee on commerce had been influenced to offer this proposition by knowledge, fear or suspicion that it might save the bill from danger "elsewhere." The committee came in for a good deal of criticism from out-and-out supporters of the bill, led by Mr. Eustis. The latter in reply to a direct question from Mr. Butler, said he was a thick and thin friend of the bill, in season and out of season. Mr. Eustis accused the committee of being afraid to confront the enemy (whoever he may be) and afraid to face fire.

Mr. Miller appealed to friends of the bill to rally to the support of the committee: He ascribed Mr, Eustis's position on the bill and his desire to swell it to his well known hostility to the administration and to his wish to force a presidential veto. It was an open secret, he said, that arrangements were being made in another body to bury the bill, provided certain things were done or provided the amounts were increased beyond a certain point. There had also been floating about the corridors of the capitol, in the cloak rooms, and on the floor of the senate, statements made and repeated day after day by men who represent the executive—by men who stood close to it. They had not hesitated to say (not in whispers, but in outspoken words) that if this bill exceeded a certain point it would undonbtedly meet an executive veto. point it would undoubtedly meet an executive veto.

Mr. Edmunds said that it was out of order, and unseemly and improper, to refer to any possible or impossible action of the president or of the house of representatives in relation to the bill.

The chair (Mr. Sherman) said that the point of order was well taken, but he had observed that senators frequently violated a rule in an indirect manner, by referring to what was done "elsewhere." He reminded the senate that this indirect violation of a rule is a viola-that this indirect violation of a rule is a viola-tion of decency and propriety.

Mr. Couger, member of the committee on commerce, resented the reference to his com-mittee and characterized them as "an insidi-ons attack upon the committee," although the speeches, he said, had run an attack on the motives, sincerity, honesty and honor of the committee. The senator from Kaussa had speken of some "sewerage system." Ah, sir, speken of some "sewerage system." Ah, sir, said Mr. Conger, this kind of attack smells of cleace. The senator's suggestion of a sewerage system indicates the seeking for motive of men in some flitby place and I leave it there with that expression. How much better is the senator from Kansas than are the members of the committee on com-merce? What have the members of the commettee on commerce done that of the commeittee on commerce done that they should he held up to the scorn of their fellows and the people. I admit his great eloquence, his superiority in sailing high— syel and in sinking low, but I do not admit his superior honesty, integrity or industry. At the close of Mr. Conger's speech, which At the close of Mr. Conger's speech, which was extremely bitter throughout, and which seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed by his audience, the senate, without coming to a vote

A DULL DAY IN THE HOUSE. The Appropriation Bills-District of Colum

WASHINGTON, July 15 .- In the house, Mr. Randall, from the committee on appropriations reported a joint resolution continuing in force until the 31st of July the provisions of a joint resolution providing temporarily (until today) for the expenditures of the government. Mr. Dunham, of Illinois, wished it to be understood that so far as the house was concerned, appropriation bills necessary to carry on the government had been passed. Mr. Milikin, of Maine, inquired how many more of these joint resolutions would be

Mr. Randall replied that as many as were needed would be brought in.

Mr. Dunham remarked that they would be brought in as long as the senate delayed the appropriation bills.

Mr. Milikin said the bills were delayed in the senate because they had been delayed in the house.

The joint resolution was passed.

The joint resolution was passed.

The district of Columbia business was then in order, and the remainder of the day was spent in the discussion of the act incorporating a street car railway company for Washington.

Every conceivable style of amendment was offered, most of them only to be rejected. On every amendment, the question of no quorum was raised, necessitating a vote by tellers, or call of the house.
Pending further action, Mr. Morrison, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution ordering night sessions for today and Satur-day, tonight's ression being for consideration of lator business, and Saturday for the con-of inter business, and saturday for the consideration of business reported from the committee on printing. Agreed to.

Mr. Holwan submitted a conference report on the legislative appropriation bill.

Pending action, the house, at 5 o'clock, took a recess until 8 o'clock.

At the evening session the house passed the collapsing bills, received from the following bills, reported from the committee

To prevent the employment of convict labor and slien labor upon public buildings and other public works.

Amending the set to prohibit the importation and immigration of foreigners and aliens under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States.

To protect mechanics, laborers and servants in the District of Columbia in their wages.

A senate bill providing for the payment of per clem of government employes for Decertion day and the Fourth of July.

Directing the commissioner of labor to make an investigation in regard to convict labor in the United States.

the United States.

A bill extending the provisions of the eight bour law to letter carriers gave rise to some opposition, and pending action the house at 11 o'clock adjourned.

MACON'S PUBLIC BUILDING.

The Plans Completed and the Building to be Finished in Two Years.

Washington, July 15.—[Special.—Happy is the city which has secured a public building! The presidential veto has blighted the hopes of several aspiring applicants for such an bonor, and any one of the smaller cities which has safely passed all trouble and has the plans for its building complete must be considered fortunate.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY MURNING, JULY 16 1886

The following letter from the supervising architect of the treasury to Congressman Blount will give official information as to the prospects of the public building at Macon:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT—Office of the Supervising Architect—July 12. 186.—Hon. James H. Blount, House of Representatives—Sir: Referring to our interview this morning, relative to the public building in course of construction at Macon, Ga., I have the honor to state that the plans will be completed and placed in the hands of the photographer in about twe weeks; and, unless unusual delays should occur, the building will be completed by October 1st, 1888

The object in requiring the superintendent of a public building to submit estimate of, and obtain written authority for, contemplated expenditures, is three-fold, viz: That the requirements of section 3709, revised statutes, may be compiled with the approval of the secretary of the treasury may be obtained to permit acceptance of the accounts submitted to this department by the disbursing agent: and that proper amounts may be charged and set aside against the appropriation on the books of this office, and provision made for other work to be done; without creating any deficiency, which is prohibited by sections 5:33 and 5503 revised statutes. Respectfully yours.

Mr. Blount, after securing the passage of the bill for the construction of this building, has used every means to expedite the work and it will be seen from the foregoing letter that his efforts have been successful. The process of the construction of a public building is usually painfully slow. The Macon building is going to be built without delay because it has been looked after by a faithful, vigilant and influential representative in congress. It will be errected at the corner of Third and Mulberry ential representative in corgress. It will be erected at the corner of Third and Mulberry streets, and will be a very handsome structure, costing $125,000.

THE PAYNE CASE.

Three Reports from the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections.

Washington, July 15.—Three reports from the senate committee on privileges and elections, upon the Payne case, were submitted to ions, upon the Payne case, were submitted to the senate today. The report signed by Senators Pugh, Saulabury, Vance and Eustis, democratic members of the committee, sets forth, at length, the public history of the case, recognizing the transcendent importance of throwing around the senate of the United States the highest safeguards against seating members whose title was procured by bribe, fraud or corruption, and describes the processes by which the signers reach the conclusion that there is no ground for further proceeding against Mr. Payne. The report says the committees' first act was to comply fully with the first request of the Ohio house of representatives to make an examination of the testimony taken by the select committee at Columbus. Upon this testimony, Mr. Hoar made a report to the committee that after a careful reading no evidence, opinion or statement, whatever, was found personally inculpating Mr. Payne in any way with the corrupt use of money in connection with his election. Naither did in such pating Mr. Payne in any way with the corrupt use of money in connection with his election. Neither did such examination show that enough had been found to justify the charge that the election was procured by the corrupt use of money. About this time supplemental resolutions of two houses of Ohio central legislature, and those of the republican state committee and the second of the republican state. ture, and those of the republican state committee, made their appearance, and soon after Congressmen Little and Butterworth were heard at length.

The signers of the report declare that no new evidence not contained in the original matter submitted was brought to their attention which any court would not hold to be merely cumulative and speculative and special submitted.

tion which any court would not hold to be merely cumulative and speculative and insufficient by itself, or in connection with the original, to justify a report in favor of a trial by the senate of Mr. Payne's right to his seat. They conclude that Henry B. Payne has not been charged with having anything to do porsonally, or with having any personal knowledge of, or connection with, or participation in, any act or anything that may have been done or charged as having been done, that was wrong, crimias having been done, that was wrong criminal, immoral or reprehensible in his election; that no member of the committee, and no witness, representative or other person has expressed an opinion or intimated any belief or suspicion that Henry B. Payne is, or was, connected in the remotest degree, by act or knowledge, with anything that was or the Jury Complete and the Case for the in his election, and on the whole case as pre-sented to them, they recommend that the senate make no further investigation of the the charge involving the right of Henry B. Payne to his seat. This report asks that the commit-tee be discharged from further consideration of the subject and that it be indefinitely post-Therefore, the report holds that the senate would not be warranted, under the constitution, in instituting an investigation. The report points out that the state is not under restrictions which binds the senate in such investigations, and says the state should exeinvestigations, and says the state should execute its laws respecting the purity of senatorial elections by the indictment and conviction of bribe givers or takers. In this case the state has attempted no further investigation than is embodied in the matter laid before the senate, either through the legislature or courts of law.

If a further examination by the state should be made, the senate would be governed in its further action by what might appear. But as the matter stands the report holds that an investigation should not be instituted by the Messrs. Hoar and Frye, in a separate report, state that they cannot concur with the views expressed by the other members of the committee. They describe the eminent sources from which the charges were brought to the attention of the senate, and say they think a case is presented in which it is the duty of the senate to permit the petitioners to present their evidence and to authorize the issue of proper process to aid in procuring the issue of proper process to aid in procuring the attendance of witnesses. The senate is the only court which can have jurisdiction of the question. The courts of Ohio may exercise jurisdiction of the offense of bribery, but could not decide whether the result of an election was thereby changed. For the senate to re-fuse to listen to this complaint would be taken as a declaration that it is indifferent to the question whether its seats are to be in the future the subject of bargain and sale or may be presented by a few millionaires as a the future the subject of bargain and sale or may be presented by a few millionaires as a compliment to a friend.

The report sets forth a series of "propositions" which Messrs. Little and Butterworth offer upon their own responsibility to establish to the satisfaction of the senate, largely by witnesses who were not within reach of the Ohio committee. In brief, among these are the following: Three-fourths of the members of the legislature were pledged to Pendleton and Ward; that just before the legislative caucus large sums of money were placed by Mr. Psyne's son and other friends, at the control of active managers of Psyne's canvas; that a gentleman whose name is offered to be given, would declare that David R. Paige had said be had handled $65,000, and that Oliver B, Paine had said it cost bim $100,000 to elect his father, that members of the legislature who changed from Pendleton to Psyne did so after a secret, confidential interview with agents who had the disbursement of these moneys, and that these members about that time acquired large sums of money for which they do not satisfactorily account. The report discusses the above mentioned features of the case at great length and the conclusion is reached that an investigation is warranted. The question is not, the report rays, whether the case is proved; it is only whether it shall be inquired into. No unwilling witness had ever yet been compelled to testify and no process had gone out

WHY THE PROVIDENT SAVINGS an Examination of the Books Shows that Thompson Has About Seventy Thousand Dollars with Him in Canada—Another Bank Officer Skips off with the Filthy Lucre.

THE NIMBLE CASHIER

Sr. Louis, July 15.—Carlos S. Geely, the largest stockholder of the Provident Savings bank, which failed yesterday, makes the following statement as to how that event was brought about:

"When the board of directors counted the cashier's reserve fund two weeks ago, prepara-tory to declaring their dividends, they found $40,000 in the bank vault. The night watch-man informed me last evening that Thompson entered the bank building Saturday evening at man informed me last evening that Thompson entered the bank building Saturday evening at about 10:30 o'clock, and it was undoubtedly then that the cashier salted $15,000 of the fund in his pocket, and the greatest surprise to me is that he did not appropriate the rest of it. The discovery of the shortage was made last Pridas by me, and it came about like this: Mr. Sevan acting president of the bank, on that day, came to my place of business and informed me the directors had just loaned Thompson $8,500 on one hundred shares of Crystal Plate glass company's stock, which he had deposited as collateral. Now I am a director of that corporation, and had assisted in the disbursement of dividends. I was in a position to know that Thompson did not hold 100 shares of the stock. Going Immediately to our treasurer, Mr. Barnes, I had him to furnish me a list of stockholders. In this list I found that on October 9, 1885, a certificate numbered 378, calling for one share of the capital stock, had been issued to Almon 8. Thompson. I called the attention of the board of directors to this, but Thompson explained that the other ninety-nine shares had been transferred to him, but not yet delivered. He said if the board wished it he would return the amount of the loan on Monday. When he did not show up on Monday my fears received substantial acknowledgment of his crookedness. I went to the bank and by means of a misercoscope detected very plainly that the certificate had been raised from one share to 100 shares, and that the date had also been altered. A further examination of his books showed that his rascality had been going on since 1883. Since that time he has carried a fraudulent entry on the foreign exchange account, involving $20,000. His total shortage will doubtless amount to $70,000. I agree with the receiver, however, that the depositors will be paid in full, even at the expense of the stockholders. The bank will never resume operations."

ANOTHER BANK FAILURE. Departure of Its President to Canada with the Funds.
OMAHA. July 15.—Dundy County bank, of sume operations."

OMAHA. July 15.—Dundy County bank, of Benkleman, Neb., failed yesterday. Mr. Belzer, president, skipped to Canads and took with him about $100,000 in funds and securities. Business men and farmers feel the loss greatly, as many have lost the last dollar they had on earth. Several homesteaders had their little all in the bank and were to prove up today. Many will have to abandon their claims. The greatest excitement prevails. Belzer had transferred his available property to his wife before leaving. Many eastern banks and firms lose heavily.

before leaving. Many eastern canks and arms lose heavily.

The bank frm was McCarther & Beltzer. This firm was quoted in Bradstreets at from $35,000 to $40,000, and their credit was vary good. Benkleman is a town of about 300 people. It is claimed that Beltzer took with him $100,000 in funds and securities. It is quite likely that a large portion of this amount was entrusted to him by eastern parties to loan out. Details as to individual losers and accounts have not yet been received here. The bank only claimed a capital of $10,000, and it is not believed by Omaha bankers that Beltzer could have taken $100,000 unless he bad some eastern money loaner's funds.

State Opened.

CHICAGO, July 15.—State Attorney Grinnell opened the case for the prosecution in the trial of the anarchists this afternoon, a full jury having been empannelled. He said: "For the first time in the history of this country there were people on trial for their lives for their endeavors to make anarchy and ruthless destruction of life, and he hoped it would be the last and the only time that such a trial would take place. Whether it would or not this case would determine. He then began to tell the jury of meetings held prior to the massacre, which were addressed by August Spies and Parsons, where they predicted what took place on May 4, and of interviews Spies had with newspaper reporters in which he said such an affair would assuredly take place, as the bombs were prepared. He by take place, as the bombs were prepared. He said he would be able to prove to the complete satisfaction of the jury Lingg made the bomb which was thrown.

The state's attorney, who was listened to with profound attention by the audience and which was thrown.

The state's attorney, who was listened to with profound attention by the audience and jury, continued, saying:

Leaders in any great cause are either heroes or cowards. The testimony in this case will show that Spies, Parsons, Schwab and Neebe are the biggest of cowards. Last January Spies said that they were going to precipitate the matter about the first of May, and he told a reporter-how they could clean up the police. He said they would have a meeting near the intersection of two streets; that they would be provided with bombs: that when the police came bomb-throwers would be stationed on different sides of the street, and Spies then exhibited an empty bomb almost an exact duplicate of the bomb that fell in Haymarket. The evidence will develop a strange state of facts in regard to the complicity of others in this conspiracy. It embraced so many men that I distrusted my own judgment in matter of prosecution. On the evening of May 3rd Spies wrote his own account of the McCormick riot. We have his manuscript In that he said one bomb might have prevented the failure of the demonstration. On that afternoon there appeared at the top of the editorial column in the Arbeiter-Zeitung the Greek letter upsilon and the words, "Come Monday night," When the conspirators saw that secret letter they were to go to the place of meeting. I am informed that Baithazar Ran wrote that signal. Ran is a confidential friend of Spies, working in his office. Armed men of anarchist group went to Griet's hall, at 54 West in the basement to the number of thirty or more. Fischer, Lingg and the has lived many years in America. It was the most fearfully declared plant that I ever heard of in my life. It means absolute destruction to the town. Engel said: "When you see printed in the Arbeiter Zeiturg under the letter box, the ward 'Ruhe, that night prepare for war." Ruhe means reat, peace. The manuscript of that is in our possession, and in the handwriting of August Shies. That word on Tugaday, May 4. aspecared in the Arbei

Grinnell approved fully of Inspector Bonfield's action in breaking up the meeting. Had the police not acted that night they would have been compelled to act on the following with probably a more terrible result. The meeting was called for 7:30. The police did not come till 10:30. Conspirators in other parts of the city did not receive the signal at the expected time. That part of the plot fell through.

In concluding, Mr. Grinnell said:
"I will attempt to show you who threw the bomb and not a single conspirator will be placed upon the stand whom we will not corroborate by other witnesses."

Tomorrow the examination of witnesses will begin.

THE EVICTED MINERS. A Card from the Striking Workmen of Grape Creek Mines.

CHICAGO, July 15.—A committee of the striking miners at Grape Creek coal mines, near Danville, Ill., publishes a card respecting striking miners at Grape Creek coal mines, near Danville, Ill., publishes a card respecting the situation, in which they say:

"There is no prospect of a riot, nor has there been any attempt at violence or intimidation of any kind. The miners of this place are all American citizens, peaceable and law abiding, and have common sense enough to stand up for their rights. The Grape Creek Coal company is solely responsible for the present trouble. We were requested by J. H. McClure, general manager of the Grape Creek Coal company, to send a delegate to the Columbus, O., convention, which adopted the Pittsburg rate of 75 cents per ton. He took a prominent part in the convention, and was the only operator that voted against the Pittsburg scale, which was to go into effect on May 1st. When the convention was over General Manager McClure came home, called us together and told us he would not be governed by the scale of wages fixed and adopted, and wanted us to ioin hands with him, and repudiate all that had been done at the convention. We told him, in ustice to forty-nine operators and all the miners irom eight states that took part in the proceedings of that convention, we could do only in the way prescribed by the convention, and that was to submit all grevances to a board of arbitration. This he refused to do. We have been evicted from their houses and taken up our abode in rudely constructed houses of our own, but we have plenty to eat and respectable clothing to wear. Our fellow miners have came to our rescue and we are receiving about six hundred dollars per week. The company is now trying to colonize negroes here, and Friday last they brought in from Tennessee seventy-eight negroes. Sheriff Tuttle of Vermillion county with forty deputies, escorted them from Danville and committee of miners was allowed to talk with negroes, and the result is forty-nine of them have gone back, and the rest will go in a few days. Another delegation of colored men is expected in a few days, but, like the others, when they find they ha

THE AUGUSTA TROUBLE.

President Phinizy Declines' to Give the AUGUSTA, Ga., July 15.—C. H. Phinizy, president of the Augusta factory, in a letter to Mullen, Meynardie and Salley, committee of the Knights of Labor, declines to make the fifteen per cent advance to the strikers, but agrees to abolish the pass or line system. The board of directors declare to all whom it may concern that they are anxious to continue the business on any terms which do not involve actual loss and destruction of property, and cordially invite the co-operation of all persons willing to express in such business.

In reply to the letter of President Phinizy, W. H. Mullen, of the Knights of Labor, de-clares that fifteen per cent is not their ulta-natum, and offers on behalf of the mill opera-tives to accept an advance of ten per cent for the pert six months. In reply to the offers of the next six months. In reply to the offers of President Phinizy to allow the committee of knights to examine the books to show that the factory had lost largely, and is not able to advance wages, Mr, Mullen charges that the offer was useless, as the records of the company had been consigned to the fiames. President Phinizy's rejoinder is that he can have no further communication with any one making such charges until they are withdrawn. It is thought that Mullen will withdraw the charges about burning the books of

A FIGHT WITH HATCHETS.

An Attack upon Non-Union Men in Chicago,

CHICAGO, July 15.—Union carpenters still persist in their attacks upon non-union men who work ten hours a day. Yesterday about twenty union men rushed into a new building at the corner of Campbell and Oakley avenues, and assaulted the astonished workmen with saws, hatchets and other tools. Four mea were severely cut. The foreman was in the second story at the time. Hearing the row, he rushed to the stairway and fired a shot at one of the intimidators. It caused a panic among them and they fied. The foreman fired several shots at the crowd and they left. The patrol wagon arrived too late to capture any of the assailants. assailants.

The Brickmason's Strike.

MILWAUKEE, July 15.—Another strike has been inaugurated by the bricklayers and masons? They submitted a demand last week that the masons sign an agreement, guaranteeing the continuance of the eight hour system for the next three years. This was refused, and the union men, to the number of 400, have gone out. All building operations are at a standstill.

THE COUPON CASES.

The Circuit Court at Richmond Trying One

RICHMOND, Va., July 15.—The circuit court of the United States, Judges Bond and Hughes presiding, has been all day trying the case of Dulaney vs. the treasurer of Shenandoah county, and the state board of indemnity, consisting of the first and second auditors, treasurer, secretary of the commonwealth and attorncy general. The case was not finished, and the jury was adjourned over till tomorrow. H. G. Dulaney, a wealthy citizen of Shenandoah county, tendered state coupons in payment of his taxes, which was refused, and the county treasurer levied on eight of Dulaney's cattle and sold them. Dulaney sued him for trespass in making the levy and sale, claiming damages at $100,000. The state's officers are defended by Hop. J. Randolph Tucker and Attorney-General Avers, and Dulaney by Wm. L. Royall, counsel for the creditors of the state and Wm. H. Sandse. The case will probably be concluded to morrow.

THE ENGLISH BLECTIONS. Comments of the Irish Press on the Situs-

LOLDON, July 15 -The total vote thus far is: Conservatives and unionists, 1,455,958; Gladstonian, 1,382,118.

The Dublin United Ireland comments to day on the British political situation in a somewhat raging style. Among other things, somewhat raging style. Among other things, it says,

Tricksters, soreheads and mountebanks who are about to assume office in the present tremendous crisis in English history, have in common but one dominating impulse, to grad at the emoluments of power. This is indeed a grotesque sacridee. It is as if a rascal, imbued himself in the vestments of a priest for the purpose of robbing the altar.

In another paragraph the paper says:

'Gladstone's opponents deliberately conceeted the Belfast tragedies for political purposes. Murder, particular or wholesale, will not stop them any more than it did Ireland's enemies heretofore. The marquis of Salisbury, Joseph Chamberlain and Lord Randolph Churchill are as unscrupalous as Pitt, Care and Castlereagh, but they are punier. The slanders of the Times and Lord Hartington are as infamous as those of Lord Cornwallis or General Ross. Belfast Orangemen have been selected to good the Irish people into violence, in order to secure a pretext for ecorcion, with a view to stifle Ireland's demand until Mr. Gladstone shall be dead."

The United Ireland suggests the clapping every Ulster magistrate into jail and letting the soldiers deal with the riotous Orangemen unfettered.

Lord Salisbury has offered to give the liberal unionists four seats in the caoinet and an equal ratio of lesser offices. He will permit Lord Hartington to be leader in the house of commons and to select what office he chooses, excepting that of premiers. Lord Salisbury proposes to again unite the premiership with the office of foreign secretary. Conservative newspapers predict that the first fight will arise over obstructive tactics by the Gladstonians and Parnellites. Ministerial circles deny the charge, and affirm that Mr. Gladstone is desirous of extending the speaker's powers of cloture. Mr. Parnell is disposed to rollow the lead of Mr. Gladstone, but if Lord Salisbury proposes coercion every means will

"All the conservatives who prize the triumph which the conservatives and liberal unionists won together, will wish to see the marquis of Hartington a prominent member of the new government, and will also desire to have the unionists fairly and fully represented. Unless the marquis of Salisbury adduces a conclusive reason against this policy, we are sure it is one the country will best understand. It will commend itself to the common sense of electors. If Hartington's followers are willing, we are perfectly sure that there will be no insuperable difficulties in the way of such an amicable arrangement.

The net gain made by the tories and unionists combined in the elections, so far amounts to forty-five seats over and above their holdings in the last house of commons.

The New Extradition Treaty. The New Extradition Treaty.]

London, July 15.—In spite of denials, it is positively asserted that the draft of an extradition treaty between Great Britain and the United States has been signed by Lord Rosebery and Minister Phelps, and is now in Washington. The prospect of a really effective extradition treaty causes intense gratification here. Interviews with Scotland yard officials show a consensus of opinion that the old treaty was almost useless as regarded many of the worst offenses, not counting those of a political nature. A veteran detective remarked that if the treaty should be ratified, everal well known faces in New York and London would soon be missing.

South Carolina's State Convention.

Columbia, S. C., July 15.—[Special.]—During the past few days upward of fifty delegates to the state democratic convention have been elected by various county conventions. Most of these delegates will come to Columbia uninstructed. A small proportion of them, however, have been told to urge the claims of certain candidates. In Edgo-field county the farmers' movement was enthusiastically indorsed, and Mr. John C. Sheppard was nominated for governor. None of the other counties have even mentioned Sheppard's name in connection with the office of governor, so his chances do not appear to be very promising. Every day Colonel John Peter Richardson gains strength Some of the best informed men in Columbia expises the opinion that Colonel Richardson will receive the nomination on the first ballot. MACON, Ga., July 15.—[Special.]—Colone B. W. Frobell, chief engineer, of the Covington and Macen railroad, received the following communication from President L. F. Living

"Ceionel B. W. Frobel-Dear Sir: I beg leave through you to tender my resignation as president and director of the Covington and Macon railroad Respectfully, I. F. LIVINGSTONE."

Your correspondent called at the office of the Covington and Macon, and met Colonel Frobell, but he knew of no reason for the resignation and declined to express an opinion.

A meeting of the directors will be called at an early day, and a new president will be elected. The affairs of the road seem to be going smoothly along. Colonel Machen is in New York and what action he will take in the matter is not known at present. It is thought that in a few days the whole matter will be explained, and the president's reasons for resigning will be made public. Accident on the East Tennessee.

Accident on the East Tennessee.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—[Special.]—Yesterday evening a local freight train, northward bound, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, was pretty badly shaken up near Adam's park, between here and Cochran. The train men say that in their opinion the secident was caused by a brake pin falling in front of the trucks of one of the cars, which derailed it. Six others were thrown off, and the track was obstructed just at a point where they could not build a temporary track and

Strange Weather.

Strange Weather.

Macon, Ga., July 15.—[Special.]—Yesterday afternoon a thick mist overspread the sky through which the sun shone red, like woods burning time. It seemed to be more smoke than cloud, and as night drew nearer the smoke from incoming engines and the oil factory chimneys glided along near the earth, and the city was enshrouded in a vail of mist. The moon looked red, and as the night advanced the thin storm racks shifted across its angry face toward the east. About midnight the aspect grew more threatening, and a heavy thunder storm appeared to pass across the country north of the city. A light raid fell, but the strange smoky mist still remained. It was the queerest looking weather ever experienced here.

A Savage Fight.

the surface just under the other. The wound is not deemed fatal,

There had been a misunderstanding between Smith and Ben James, but it was peacably settled long ago. On Tuesday Dave James, a brother of Ben, was in town drinking, and he saw Smith in Mr. Rawl's store and imagined that Smith bantered him for an attack. Dave hastened to Ben's store and told him of it and begged Ben to give him a pistol. Ben would not do it, but tried to control Dave and keep him out of a difficulty. Dave left him and went to the showcase and took out a large pocket-knife and went back. Dave left him and went to the showcase and took out a large pocket-knife and went back to Smith. Smith was sitting down reading when Dave collared him and waved a drawa knife over his head. Several men seized Dave and threw him down, taking the knife from him; and, in the meantime, Smith drew a No. 38 Smith & Wesson self-cocker and had it pointed at Dave. Just at this period Ben James walked into Rawl's store, thinking he might be able to get Dave off home and prevent a difficulty. When Ben saw Smith with his pistol drawn on Dave and in the act of shooting, he became very much excited and drew a pistol and fired at Smith; but tome one knocked up his hand and the ball passed through the rim of Smith's hat. Smith shot then and the ball was spent in the air overhead. Then they hitched and the damage was done before they could be separated, only about two out of twenty-five being there to part them. In the southe Dave received a blow from a weight over his left eye.

BARNESVILLE, GA., July 15.—[Special.]—
The recent article in relative to the status of political affairs in Pike, had in it several incorrect statements. It was based on the statepolitical affairs in Pike, had in it several incorrect statements. It was based on the statements of several prominent gentlemen; but it is found, on further inquiry, that to be misleading as to the true political situation. The anti prohibitionists have not proposed in a formal manner to allow Pike to elect prohibition legislators, provided they were allowed to vote on the question of prohibition again after two years. On the contrary, Colenel A. A. Murphy, the prohibition leader and chairman of the democratic executive committee, formally proposed to let the question of prohibition drop out of county politics for two years, and during that time for both parties to unite and work together for the best and truest interests of democracy. Then, after that time had expired, if the antes were still unsatisfied with prohibition order another election, on it and give them a chance to assert themselves. This is substantially what they claimed they were willing to do, and yet they would not agree to the proposition when it was made to them. Colonel Murphy has ever shown himself ready to drop the question of prohib tion and let the democratic party act in harmony. In a conversation to day he expressed himself as being willing to retire from the race for the legislature, if by doing so the party could be harmonized. doing so the party could be harmonized.

Albany News: The News and Advertiser, some years since, investigated the melon busi-ness and felt that there was something in it some years since, investigated the melon business and felt that there was something in it for our farmers who were near enough the railroads to engage in the enterprise. The farmers have had many backsets and discouragements, but like men of pluck, they have worked at the problem until it appears to be solved. Melons have commanded fair prices this season, and the returns have paid. But even yet the freights are too high. We trust time will regulate that. It is indeed gratifying to us that the melon growers have realized some profit this year. Our farmers have but few home markets. They are almost compelled to plant cotton, but now that melon growing has attained to the dignity of a business, it will give many an opportunity to diversify their crops. The market for melons is a distant one, and of course the shipper runs some risk. These come with population and are the growth of time. It will be many years before home markets will be as abundant as in the north and west. But the Georgia melon has found an outlet and goes a welcome visitor abroad.

Gwinnett Herald: Warrants have been in the hands of the officers of this and Walton counties for some time, charging Captain A. T. Baugh with horse stealing. The general impression was that he had left the country, but within the last week or two it was ascertained that he was located in Walton county, about three miles below Logansville. Last Saturday the deputy sheriff of Walton asked Sheriff Cospy to assist in capturing Baugh, who was supposed to make his headquarters about Mr. Bobinson's. That night, accompanied by D. T. Gain, M. E. Brown, and V. A. Garrison, as a posse, he went to Logansville, where he was joined by Deputy Sheriff Knight and Messrs. Kelly and Tribble. They went to the locality where Baugh was supposed to be, and searched several outhouses, without making any discovery, and just before day they located themselves in the rear of Robinson's house to await developments. Just after light they discovered the object of their search coming out of the yard, and heading toward them. The party had divided, part of them were on one bill and part on the other. Coptain Baugh came directly on the party with which Sheriff Cosby was. He had a gun and pistol, and was followed by a fice dog. They let him approach until he was in about ten steps, when they called on him to halt and surrender. "Surrender what!" says Baugh, and suddenly turning, he moved off toward the swamp like a quarter horse. Several shots were fired at him as he ran, but none of them took effect. The party then went to the swamp and searched for him, but he had passed through and was so far in the lead, that no further attempt was made to follow him. The party returned home after a fruitless night's raid but have ascertained his tramping ground.

Columbas Sun: Policeman McMichael went

Columbus Sun: Policeman McMichael went down to Union springs yesterday morning and returned with the negro who killed James Mills on upper Oglethorpe street a few weeks ago. Mr. McMichael said he knew the negro was the right man as soon as he saw him, although he at first stoutly denied knowing anything about the killing. After being teld, however, that he would be brought to Columbus anyhow, he confessed the killing and claimed that he did it in self-defense. The negro had been known here as "Dr. Broeks," but gives his name as Allen Hood. He says that he and Mills had beed drinking together. Mills gave him an order to go and get a bottle of whisky, but followed him and took the order from him. He says that while they were talking another white man walked up, and knocked him down with a brick, or a rock, and Mills jumped upon him. He drew a knife and stabbed Mills while he was on him, and he thinks he cut him again as he got up. He then ran and made his escape. The knife used was a huge butcher knife about ten inches long. The negro threw it over into Mr. Mark Masters' yard, and it was found there about a week after the killing. Hood is undoubtedly mistaken about cutting Mills twice, as only one wound was found on him. Witnerses who testified at the coroner's inquest said nothing about seeing a third man in the fight. One of them testified that blows were passed and that Mills was knocked down. The negre, however, now displays a scar on the side of his chin which he says was inflicted by the man who knocked him down. Hood has been lodged in the county jail to await trial. McLester & Shipp have been employed to defend him. We understand that the Knighte of Labor, of which order Mills was a member, propose to prosecute the case.

that the Knights of Labor, of which order Mills was a member, propose to prosecute the case.

Speaking of the Lewis brothers, the Alapaha Star says: "On former occasions it has been, as it is now, a pleasant task to mention these clever, active and energetic young men. They are the sons of the late John F. Lewis, of Dooly county, a man who, starting at the bottom of the ladder as a poor boy, by his industry, energy and remarkable business talent, overcame all obstacles that often beset him in his remarkable career, until he reached the topmost round of the ladder, and after a life of success to himself and usefulness to his fellow-man, sank to rest, leaving to his sons a large fortune, together with those sterling business characteristics, which shown forth so conspicuously in his own wonderful career. There are four of the Lewis brothers, viz.E. B. Lewis, R. G. Lewis, J. F. Lewis and S. B. Lewis. The Lewis brothers are now conducting seven large mercantile establishments and three banks. They are conducted under the firm names of John F. Lewis & Sou, Montezuma, Ga.; John F. Lewis & Co., Hawkinsville, Ga; E. B. & S. B. Lewis, Albany, Ga.; and D. B. Leonard, Vienna, Ga. Mr. Leonard is a brother-in-law of the Lewis brothers. The banks conducted by this great firm, or aggregate of firms, are located in Albany, Montezuma, Hawkinsville and Valdosta, and are conducted with the stores at the places mentioned. The Valdosta house is the last established, being about two years old, yet it has attained a reputation and popularity that extends over a large territory, and is constantly increasing its volume of business. The writer had the pleasure a few days ago, of visiting the Valdosta house, and was not surprised to find it an elegant, complete and commodious establishment. The building is a large and imposing two-story brick structure on Patterson street, on the corner opposite the courthouse. The building is filled from ceilar to garret with a mammoth stock of dry goods, notions, hats, boots, shoes, agricultural implem

On Wednesday the spirit of Hon. Abraham Pr-Clements, of Irwin county, took its flight to its Master, after a brief illness. Mr. Clements was born July 11, 1811, and was in the 76th year of his age. He was one of the old settlers of Irwin, having spent the greater portion of his long and useful life there. He represented his county in the lower branch of the Georgia legislature one term, and was always regarded as an honest man, a good citizen, and a kind and affectionate father, husband and friend. He leaves behind him a arge family of worthy sons and daughters, six of he former and four off the latter; all grown and "weach respected."

He moved to Marietta from Savannah in 1848 and was one of the oldest citzens before the war. He kept hotel for a number of years. Since the war he has been sarming, till a year or two since, he gave up all active business and passed the last year of his life quietly, surrounded by his children, who most kindly ministered to him in his last lilness, which lasted several months. Mr. Fletcher was an honorable man, and was highly respected by all who knew him. By his uniform kindness he made many friends, who regret his death.

Mr. C. G. Nowell, of Walton county, after successfully running three large stores and leading to victory the Gordon forces in one of the hottest contests ever known in the county, still finds time to step out to his farm near Monroe, and make more wheat to the acre than any other man in the county.

Dick Sheats, colored, one of Monroe's butchers, now languishes in Walton jail, charged with stealing two cows from Mr. A. J. Burriss. He concealed the heads and hides in a pasture in which several cows were running. The cows found them and began to mourn and low, which led to the finding of the remains. Dick pleads guilty and begs for mercy.

BEFS AND YELLOWJACKETS. A Good-Natured Man Tells What He Know

About Them. From the Philadelphia Telegraph.

"A bee is a very playful and good-natured animal," said a gray-headed man with a benevolent smile, standing near the entrance of the beehives at the Zoo yesterday. "The only thing you want to be careful about when you come anywhere near a bee is never to hit him. That is, you must never attempt to hit him, for the chances are just about nine out of ten that you 'can't do it' if you try.

"Now, the difference between a bee and a yellowjacket is just about this: A yellowjacket is the most vile and disagreeab'e insect ever created. They suffer from a chronic disordered temper. It is never safe to pick up a yellowjacket, and nothing makes a yellowjacket more happy and gives rise to a more genial feeling of unhappiness on the part of human susceptibility than to have some unreflecting person tibility than to have some unreflecting person take hold of him. It is then that the little yellowjacket's soul throbs with fiendish delicht and misery seizes the unfortunate victure.

tim, he habits of these insects are peculiar," continued the benevolent man. "A bee never stings a person more than once. His apparatus has a barbed point, and when it enters any stings a person more than once. His apparatus has a barbed point, and when it enters any substance it stays there. This fluishes up the bee for good. He lives but a few minutes after losing his sting."

The department of bee culture is one of the anusing and instructive features of the Zoo at this time of year. Four or five large box hives stand in a wire inclosure, and from this shady spot yesterday afternoon an interesting lecture on the babits and peculiarities of the insects was delivered to a large and attentive outdoor audience. The only distracting influence that occasionally marred the points of the lecture was the competition of the House of Refuge Band, which thumped out the strains of meledy with the vigor that calmed the savage hearts of beasts. But the lecturer went on just the same. He removed the wooden slides from the boxes and kept up talking with a swarm of busy insects flying all around him. The people stared at the lecturer partly with mistrust, as if they suspected that he coated hts hand and face with a preparation to neutralize the sting of the bears. Otherwise it seemed incomprehensible that this man could stand therein the midst of the m and gesticulate with impunity, while his that this man could stand there in the midst of the mand gesticulate with impunity, while his hear or shuddered with fright whenever a little hear ymaker came "biz-z z" past their ears. "There need never be any fear of an attack from beas," said the lecturer, "unless you begin the attack by striking at them. Then they as you do it is not savage impulse. I should say if a whole swarm of bees were to surround a man and sting him the effect would be fatal. The verom of the honey bee is very painful. But when treated kindly they are harmless. This shows their intelligence. They become accustomed to persons in the habit of attending them."

In a little frame building near the office of the superintendent there are three more hives with glass cases, where the movements and habits of the bees can be studied. The most curious trait to watch is the removal of the dead bees. The working bees only live four weeks, and they are dying off every five minutes in the day. As quick as one dies the others carry him out of the hive immediately, and fly away with him somewhere. A dead bee never stays in the hive longer than it takes to carry him out of it. Sometimes they attack one another desperately, when one, if not both, is killed. At other times two or three of the workers will sayagely attack a drone and kill him. will savagely attack a drone and kill him. And all the time the work of making the spimal, and the most unpleasant one to fight with, that people ever knew? A person who is atung by a hornet feels ready for a howling war dance, and it all comes from not understanding one disagreeable characteristic of them. If a man was sharp a hornet could never sting him. The minute a man strikes or throws a stick at him be instantly responds by making for him in a line as straight as the range of a theodolite. And he always gots there. But if the man saw him coming and only had sense enough to dodge him, the hornet wouldn't get there. And what is more peculiar, the hornet would go strait back to the identical point he started from and make another sally for his victim. But just as often as the man kept dodging he would never get stung. It only requires a man with nerve enough to stand his ground and agility enough to dodge quicker than the hornet can fly to make, it a very interesting combat.

"But of all thespiteful, wicked, and uncompromising insects, save me from either a yellowischet or a ways. There is no extiring a way.

"But of all thespiteful, wicked, and uncompromising insects, save me from either a yellowjacket or a wasp. There is no getting away from them, and when they sting once they sting a dezen times, in different parts of the body. They keep right at it, and a man may try to hit them with a stick or his hat all day and miss them every time. Wasps make their nests in the ceiling of a room or the roof of a barn. Hornets are generally found in clumps of fruit trees, and yellowjackets in the stumps of trees, shrubbery, or fences."

From the Chicago News.

A gentleman was discovered at one o'clock in the morning in a neighbor's garden engaged in prayer, evidently under impression that he was in church, but otherwise in a deep sleep.

A young man, of whom Petrus writes, used to get up in his sleep, climb on to his castle battlements, seat himself astride them, and then apur and whip the wall under the impression that he was mounted upon his steed.

Dr. Macnish, of Edinburgh, gives an account of an Irish gentleman who swam more than two miles down a river, got ashore, and was subsequently discovered sleeping by the roadside, altogether unconscious of the extraordinary feat he had accomplished.

Dr. Haycock the eminent Oxford divine, would often rise from his bed at night, give out his text, and, while sound asleep, deliver an excellent sermon upon it. He was frequently watched, but no smount of tuggling, pulling or pinching ever succeeded in rousing him.

Professor Fischnell, of Basel, writes of a young student of Wurtermburg college who used to play hide and seek while fast asleep. His fellow students knew of his propensity, and when he began "walking" threw bolsters at him, which he always eluded, jumping over bedsteads and other obstacles placed in his way.

Moritz gave an instance of a poor and illiterate basket maker, who was unable to read or write, yet in a state of sleep vigil he would preach fluent sermons, which were afterward recognized as naving formed portions of the discourses he was accustomed to hear in the parish church as a child more than forty years before.

A young girl given to sleep talking was in the habit of imitating the violin with her lips, giving the preliminary tuning and scraping and flourishing with the utmost fidelity. It puzzled her physician a great deal until he ascertained that when an infant the girl lived in a room adjoining a fiddler, who often performed upon his instrument within her hearing.

CABINESS, of Forsyth, president of the Survivors' association of the First Georgia regiment, has postponed the meeting of the survivors, which has been announced for next Thursday at Forsyth, until Angust the 5th, at which time ample preparations will be made for the visitors to have a splendid day in Monroe county.

Correcting a Boston Mistake. We find the following editorial paragraph in a late issue of the Boston Advertiser:

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION is the leading dem' ocratic paper of that reviving state. It denounces the Atlania congressman, Mr. Hammond, for voting to take up the Morrison bill, and says his resignation should be demanded if he continues to so misrepresent his constituents.

It would be surprising to know where our Boston contemporary secured so much misinformation. THE CONSTITUTION has denounced neither Mr. Hammond nor any other southern congressman for voting to take up the Morrison bill, nor has it said, or even dreamed of saying, that his resignation should be demanded. The truth of the business is that there is no tariff issue in the south, though there is renewed interest in the question. THE CONSTITUTION, in discussing the matter, has deemed it to be its duty to call attention to the fact that the democratic party of the south, notwithstand-the attitude of a majority of the southcongressmen, is not a free trade party. is, in fact, differently constituted. By s men with tally different views in regard to the tariff question, internal improvements, and other matters that were once burning issues, have been united under one party organization and call themselves democrats.

This fact was once tersely set forth by the late Senator Hill in a statement which was cruelly and unjustly criticised. "If I am a democrat," he declared, "I did not go to be." He meant by this, that, although he had been opposed to the old democratic party all his life, yet, owing to circumstances over which he had no control, he was compelled to be a democrat. The very circumstances that compelled Mr. Hill to be a democrat will prevent any very serious controversy on the tariff question. The democratic party is not yet ready to divide on such an issue, for there would inevitably be a division if the issue were insisted on. We believe that these are facts which even a free-trade congressman ought to take into

Not only is the democratic party of the south not the old democratic party, but the south is not the old south. There are those, of course, who believe that the south is doomed to be an "exclusively agricultural section," but THE CONSTITUTION has higher hopes of its future. Agriculture is a noble and an enobling pursuit when carried on under favorable conditions, but there can be no favorable conditions in the south under a policy that would prevent the building up of the industrial enterprises that are so much needed, and that would prevent the farmers from enjoying the benefits of home markets. This much is certain, and for this and other reasons THE CONSTITUTION is inclined to feel somewhat humiliated when southern democratic congressmen, instead of recognizing the situation, persist in trotting around after Mr. Morrison.

An Able Wife.

The case of Mr. John Clark, of Brooklyn, should be a warning to men not to marry

Mr. Clark wants a limited divorce, and, if his story is true, he ought to have it. In his bill he charges his wife with cruel and inhuman treatment. He alleges that Mrs. Clark is not only a big woman, but she is very muscular, and can without effort turn him over on her knee and wallop him within an inch of his life. This walloping, the plaintiff claims, has been done times withent number. During the past fifteen years this giantess has amused herself in various wave with her unfortunate victim. One of her tricks was to tear up his clothing, and when modesty and a naturally retiring dissition drove him to bed, she would pursue for a separation.

As Mr. Clark is worth fully $50,000, and as church circles, this remarkable divorce suit creates unusual excitement. The effect has been to cause young men to regard muscu-lar maidens, and especially those with a fendness for athletics, with marked distrust. While it is true that no man should wallop his wife, it is only common prudence in man to look out for a wife who is not able to do any walloping herself. Under the circumstances it will, hurt no man to keep his eyes wide open.

People are affected in various ways by what they hear. Sometimes they are sway.

ed by sense and again they are captured by sound. A case in point is the old lady who wept and shouted during a sermon, and upon being asked why she was so deeply moved, admitted that the preacher's use of "that blessed word Messopotamia" had completely overcome her.

We may laugh at the simple enthusiasm of this good woman, but her match has been found in a cultured Boston minister, the Rev. George L. Perin. In a recent sermon or Sam Jones and his methods. Mr. Perin gave the evangelist his hearty indorsement. He could not exactly state his reasons for backing up a man so utterly unBostonian, but it seemed to him that "Sam Jones had the power of calling a man an infernal fool in a way that could not be imitated!"

This tribute to the winning qualities of denunciation is something new and deserves to stand by itself.

Troublesome Sunday Laws.

New Orleans is about to try a new Sunday law, and Boston is now engaged in wrestling with one.

It is a little strange that Boston should kick against strict Sunday regulations, but the modern Puritans are a degenerate set. They have gone so far as to raise a howl over a recent decision to the effect that shaving on Sunday is not a matter of necessity. The Boston Herald claims that in the same sense clean raiment and polished shoes are not necessities, and that men should go without their three square meals and walk to church. In New Orleans the state of feeling is equally rebellious.

Our experiments in the line of Sunday legislation are perhaps rather crude at present. In some localities there may be unreasonable severity, and in others too much license. One thing, however, is certain. The American people are determined that the Sabbath shall be decorously observed, and in a manner suited to the holy character of the day. The details will be settled as we go along.

HENRY WATTERSON, after traveling, has discovered that the American diplomatic service is a fraud. A majority of the people have discovered the same fact by staying at home.

THE king of Siam has named his new born son George Washington. He should be furnished at once with a cherry tree and a

MR. A. P. ELDER, proprietor of the Literary Life, says Miss Cleveland will reach Chicago in September, to take charge of the magazine. She will have no public office in Chicago, but will do her work in her own apartments. A day or two ago Mr. Elder said to a correspondent of the New York Herald: "I thought that Miss Cleveland's name should appear in the magazine, and endeavored to obtain her consent to it. She objected, and that ended the discussion. It is her idea to have Literary Life known as her magazine, without thrusting that fact upon her readers, and the more I have thought over the matter the more I agree with her. Miss Cleveland is frank in her expressions of opinion, and I esteem her for it. She requires that all proofs of advertisements be submitted to her for pproval, as well as everything else intended for publication. She has rejected several, but I am satisfied, Miss Cleveland at present conducts the editorial affairs of the magazine from her summer residence, "The Weeds," in Oneida county, N. Y. My relations with her thus far have not been such as to make me feel that I had caught a Tartar. We have had no differences of lany momen and will have none, for Miss Cleveland will conduct the magazine in her own way." HEAT caused the Spanish cortes to adjourn one day recently. In this free country heat causes congress to hold on.

A PLUMBER moved a flagstone in New York day before yesterday and found the skeleton of a man who must have been seven or eight feet in height. It was generally agreed that the giant had been murdered. How long since no one could guess. Speaking of the scene of the finding and of the incident the World says:

"The house is onlie old, and one of the early presidents of the New York gas company is said to have built it as his private dwelling. It then stood opposite the Quaker church, which was destood opposite the Quaker church, which was demolished many years ago. Later on, it is alleged, the house was inhabited by some mysterious people. An old resident said yesterday that he had a faint recollection of some suspicious disappearance many years ago connected with the place.
He thought that a man was missed and that his clothes were found afterward on the river bank.
"Another old resident recalled a different story recarding No. 61. Peop street. He said that over regarding No. 61 Rose street. He said that over twenty years ago a tall young man, named Terence Mulvey, or Mulrey, who had been employed by a leather firm in the "Swamp," was traced there and was never heard of afterward."

THE Morrison organs say that Mr. Randall is irritated because of the Morrison report on his tariff bill. Bosh! No such slush as the Morrison report can irritate a man of Mr. Randall's calibre. There's nothing in it to irritate anybody. It is simply a proclamation in behalf of the whisky ring.

WE observe that the editor of the New York Star is as much interested in the freaks of the crank who went through the whirlpool at Niagara as it is in the Morrison whisky ring bill. This shows that there is no great tu ult in New York over the defeat of the Morrison

THERE is in Omaha an old woman, so where near on to a hundred, who makes he living at a queer business. She is a rag-picker and deals in dead men's clothes. Very frequenty the coroner has cases of unknown dead men, whom no one appears to identify. In such cases the clothes are, upon burial, thrown aside, as there is no one to claim them. Reg-ularly on Monday of every week this old woman puts in an appearance and gathers up all the cast-off vestments and carries them away in a capacious basket. Sometimes she res a good lot of clothes and again she will not get anything. The old woman cleans the clothes up and sells them to dealers in second hand clothing. She has grown quite

COLONEL WILLIAM H. GILDER, who is about to start on a journey to the north pole, has been arrested in New York at the intance of a woman named Dolly Adams, more widely known as the "Water Queen." She is sional swimmer and diver, and can eat and drink under water. She charges that Colonel Gilder has in his possession a bond for $1,000, which is her property, but which he refuses to give up; but the real cause of the angle is said to be the woman's fondness for he and his wife are prominent in society and the colonel, and her desire to prevent his journey toward the pole. Colonel Gilder admits that he had the bond in his possession, but says a cousin of his cloped to Canada with it. He is willing to consider himself in debt to the woman to the extent of $1,000. His bail was fixed at $1,500, and at last accounts he had not given it.

THE New York papers are making some-thing of a fuss because the New York Sun has stopped publishing a statement of its circula-tion. There would be a much bigger fuss (among advertisers) if some of the New York papers would begin to publish honest statements in regard to their own circulation. We ention this fact in passing.

EDITOR DORSHEIMER, of the New York Star, has been abusing THE CONSTITUTION because it doesn't agree with the free-trade agents of the whisky ring. How long before the Star will make a free-trade state out of New York?

AT Syracuse the other day a policeman saw a man and a figure dressed as a man, but which he decided was that of a woman. He took the pair to the police station and there the sus-piciously shaped figure confessed to being a woman. The man explained that the woman was his wife; that she was crazy, and that he had allowed her to dress in man's clothes to humor one of her whims, A six shooter was found in the woman's pocket. Husband and

THE New York Telegram has found a new way to induce perspiration. It beats a Tur-kish bath. Dr. Piefke was once called to the bedside of a New York merchant who was dangerously ill. After trying in vain every means to induce perspiration the doctor sent for his patient's bookkeeper and got him to read aloud a list of the merchant's liabilities, when, behold, the sick man began to perspire and get well again. The ingenious doctor has since then repeatedly tried the same plan, and with unvarying success.

PARSON DOWNS, of Boston, has been put under an $800 bond to appear and answer the indictment found in the Alice Watson case. The parson is very much wrought up by what he considers is ingratitude on the part of the Watsons. He claims to have done them many favors and says he can appreciate the feelings of Washington when Arnold became a

BRIBES ABOUT BOOKS

From D. Appleton & Co., publishers, New York, through Mr. Jos. Van Holt Nash, of this city, their general southern agent, we have received "Astronomy By Observation," by Eliza A. Bowen, an elementary text book for high schools and academies. Miss Bowen was for a long time a teacher in this city, and her talents and attainments have won deserved recognition. Her book cannot fail to add to her reputation. The Appletons seem to have the good fortune to pick up ome of our best southern writers.

From J. J. Richards & Son, of this city, we have received the following publications:
"Up the Rhine," by Thomas Hood, G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York, is an old fayorite in a new dress. This is one of the most delightful of Hood's prose works.

"The Story of Germany," by S. Baring Gould, popular history of the German people. It is thoroughly readable. G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York, is an entertaining, nam's Sons, New York, is another volume in the "Story of the Nations" series. Students of historical literature should not miss this valuable series. "The Midge," a novel by H. C. Bunner, Chas. Scribner's Sons, New York, is one of the brightest and best novels of the ceason.

"Canoeing in Kanuckia," by Charles Ledyard Norton and John Habberton, G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York, is a charming record of canoe travel in Capada.

"The Boat Sailor's Manual," by E. F. Qualtrough, Chas. Scribner's Sons, New York, will teach any man how to handle a boat. It is a capital hand-

"The Scriptures for Young Beaders," by Professors Bartlett and Peters, G. P. Putnam's Sons, New Yord, is a book that cannot be too highly commenced. Every parent should place it in the hands of his children.

"Improvement of the Senses," by Horace Grant, Lee & Shepard, Boston, is a little manual designed to aid in developing the mental faculties of young "An American Four in-Hand in Britain," by Andrew Carnegie, G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York, is a lively chronicle of travel, written by one of our great American millionaires "Flights Inside and Outside of Paradise," by Geo. C. Pearson. G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York, has a fanciful title. It is simply a record of what the author saw and heard in Japan.

"Forgotten Meanings," by Alfred Waites, L. e & Shepard, Boston, is a summary of words now used in a sense different from that which prevalled in olden times. It is a handy little volume.

PERSONS AND THINGS.

DR. JOSEPH WIENER, of New York, has found so much that is good in the writings of Washington Irving that he has given a brouze bust of the writer to the city of New York. The bust was made by Mr. Beer, of Paris, and is to be put upon a pedestal in Central park. In order that the ob-ject may be seen afar, it is very large, the shoulders of the figure being six feet broad.

WHALE HUNTING AT MONTEREY The Terrible Bomb Lance and How it is ndence of the San Francisco Alta.

Correspondence of the San Francisco Alta.

Santa Cruz, July 10.—The quartermaster the Aggie returned from a cruise to Monterey this morning, and is glowing with consciousness of his bravery in participating in a whale hunt that resulted in a capture. The Monterey Whaling company is about the oldest institutions of the kind on the coast, and the stock proves a very fair investment to the holders, who are the whale killers themselves. The business office, storeroom, and eating and sleeping apartments of the company are in a white adobe building in the western suburbs, and a half mile further south is a high cliff, whereon is the company's lookout. He is suburbs, and a half mile further south is a high cliff, whereon is the company's leokout. He is armed with a powerful glass, and a tall mast is rigged with halyards for hoisting a signal when game is sighted.

The hunting tools consist of three of the regula and unting tools consist of three of the regula-tion double-pointed boats in use by whalers the world over, five long ours to each boat, 200 fathoms of line smoothly coiled in tubs in the bow, and two guns to each boat. The larger size of the two of the smoothy content in that it is the content wo guns to each boat. The larger size of the two has the proportions of a young cannon and is mounted on a pivot. The missile discharged from it is a steel bar, four feet in length, and provided with a folding barb that opens out when the harpoon buries itself in the whale. This takes the place of the old-time harpoon, and is much more certain and effective. The lighter gun is fired from the shoulder, and looks like a large sized fowling piece. It has a 1½ inch bore. It is used to put the inishing touches on the whale after the harpoon has made him fast, and the methods is to fire an explosive bomb into a vital spot. The bomb is 1½ inches in diameter by 15 inches long, the butt end being winged with rubber tips, after the manner in which an arrow is feathered, to secure guiding power.

It was early morning when the white signa fluttered to the top of the staff of the mast on the cliff, and having previously obtained permission to join the hunt with Captain Mariano, the unartermaster was speedily seated in the stern sheets, awaiting the signal to shove off. This was soon given, and six miles to the northwest the three beats came up with their game, which proved to be an unusually large specimen of the Casifornia gray variety. The gigantic fish rolled lazily about on top of the water, all unconscious of impending danger, and did not even deign to notice the approach of the boats that came upon either side and behind her. A hundred feet away the men lay on their oars, and Captain Mariano sighted over his swivel gun. The men bent over their oars, with every muscle ready to pull or back water at the slightest hosile movement on the part of the enemy. It was a moment that seemed an age of awful suspense to the green hand, but suddenly the captain had a fair mark presented, and pressed thetrigger. The boat quivered under the shock accompanying the report, and the eye could plainly catch the firsh of the harpoon as it cleaved the air and buried itself out of sight somewhere in the right shoulder. Attached to the steel missile was the atout manilla line colled in the bow, and it bove the appearance of a fash of brown lightning as it zigzagged through the air after its powerful motor.

The whale hardly seemed to comprehend the trouble that had overtaken her at first, and it was fully half a minute before she emitted an angry snort and started for the bottom at a rate that made the line smoke and emit sparks as it ran over the bows. Both the captain and the boat steerer peered uneasily into the clear depths as the line stopped running out, and a minute later the former shouted, "Back and in the boat was cont of range, both of the fine extinguishing

This gait was kept up for a good ten minutes, and then the speed commenced to slacken, and the wounded monster swam easily and quietly on top of the water.

The living tug came to a total standstill at last, and pulling around to a broadside position the captain was given his opportunity. The second explosion was followed by the whistling of the rut ber-winged bomb, which buried itself in the great mass of blubber. Scarcely had the smoke cleared away from the bow before the muffled boom of the bomb exploding in the historical residence of Jonah sounded the death knell of the poor old whate. The victim's huge bulk grew animated again, but for only a moment. The flukes thrashed violently for a few seconds, while the waterspouts became tinged a warm red Struggles and spouts became more and more contracted, until, with a last final effort, the inwardly wounded monster rolled over and expired. The other boats made fast, and a hard pull of three hours landed the prize on the beach near the try pots, where it is to be cut up today.

A Six-Day Philadelphia Lawyer

ong Branch Correspondence New York Herald There is a visitor here who, though not distinguished, is deserving of mention because of a remarkable story that is told about him. The Rev. George R. Stein went from Philadelphia to Nash-ville, Tenn., several years ago. He was unable to get a pastorate that he had expected, but, casually visiting a courtroom, he saw that the legal profession offered unusual opportunities in that city. I don't know whether the lawyers were few or bad. Stein was a man of quick intelligence. He had read Blackstone. He borrowed "Kent's Commentaries," "Parsons on Contracts," "Greenleaf on Evidence," "Washburn on Real Property," and a treatise on criminal law, locked himself in a room for six days, and at the end of that time actually presented himself before the supreme court for admission to practice. He passed his examination creditably. For several years he successfully followed the profession of the law and accumulated some money. He was remarkably successful before a jury, owing to a fine voice. "I know the story to be true," said Rees Welsh, the law book publisher. "Stein literally absorbs a book as he reads it, and can quote whole passages after merely running his eyes over them. He's a prefebre; now, and thoroughly plous. That's why I like him." get a pastorate that he had expected, but, casually

Martha Washington As She Was.

Frank G. Carpenter in July Lippincott Martha Washington was a very pretty girl, but not a very good-looking old woman. As she matured she grew stout, and, though her pictures represent her as a beauty, the current history of the times says she was a plainly-dressed, robust old woman, who looked older than her husband. She was not noted for her social nor her intellectual qualities. She could not spell, and probably did not read a book from one end of the year to the other. She was a sort of goody-goody woman, who almost always had knitting-needles in her hands, sad who thought she did a great thing when she saved the ravelings of a lot of old black silk stockings and worn-out chair covers, and wowe them into a dress for herself. She was very proud ofher husband; and they show the little room in the second story of the home at Mount Vernon, in which she sculded herself after his death, seeing no one for months, and allowing only a cat to enter the room through a hole which was cut under the door. represent her as a beauty, the current history of th

From the Birmingham Age.

Steve Renfroe, the notorious outlaw and thier, who was lynched at Livingston last Toesday evening, has a history worthy the basis of a yellow-backed novel.

He was born in the mountains of Georgia, where his father was a highly respected citizen, and one financially well-to-do. Very little can be ascertained as to his son's character, habits and disposition during his boyhood, except that he was foremest in all boyish sports, and was always a good one in a fight.

tion during his boyhood, except that he was foremost in all boyish sports, and was always a good one in a fight.

When about twenty one years of age he married the daughter of a prosperous farmer of north Georgia, who proved to be a most estimable little lady, and did much to restrain her husband's reckless disposition.

In 1868 Steve arrived in Sumter county, Ala, and lived for a good many mouths in almost hidden seclusion with an uncle, an ex-probate judge of Sumter. It was reported, and circumstantial evidence was atrong against him, that he was fleeing from justice in Georgia—that he had killed a man in his native section, and was hiding to escape the clutches of the law.

"I shall never forget the first time that I saw him," said the reporter's informant. "It was just about three months after he arrived at his uncle's, and having been confined, for secrecy, he was as afair and delicate looking as a girl. He was just about twenty-three years old, and was dressed in what I thought at the time was the prettiest sint of clothes I had ever seen—a homemade check, handsomely worked and bound with silk braid. He was a handsome, tidy young fellow, and his delicate features, fair face and neat attire contrasted strikingly with the tawny, coarrely dressed ex-soldiers of the dark days of the war. After he had remained with his uncle several months, his wife joined him, and they lived in Sumter, apparently happily until her death, which occurred in a short time after her arrival. Her remains were interred in the burial ground of the Baptist church of that place.

About a year after the death of his wife Renfrod About a year after the death of his wife Renfroe became marked in his attentions to a daughter of Dr. Sledge, a highly respectable citizen of that county, and gaining her affection, married her. They lived together five or six years, at the end of which time she died and was buried in the Methodist churchyard. A year or two afterwards Renfroe had her remains removed and placed beside those of his first wife, in the Primitive Baptist cemetery, and erected a handsome marble monument to the memory of the two.

Afterwards Renfroe married a Miss Stone, of Livingston, and lived with her until after he was first charged with embezzlement, after which she left him, and is now living in Meridian, Miss.

Renfroe was always looked on as a leader in all kuklux or other desperate or daring undertakings, and there is no doubt as to his having had a great amount of reckless courage and being a quick man on the trigger.

Later on he was accused of embezziement and put in jail, but broke out and went out west. After "painting the westers countries red" he again returned and lived around Livingston, occasionally stealing in and taking offa horse with him. At last he was caught and jailed, but a Mr. Little went his bond and the next day the rascal stole Mr. Little's house and left again. He was recaptured after a while, and jailed, but tried to break out again, and was taken to the Tuscalcoss jail for safe keeping. Here he bored a hole through the floor of his cell and escaped through it. He was recaptured, tried to grand larceny and sent during last October, to Fratt mines for five years. He remained therefive weeks and escaped by climbing the side of the shaft. Blood hounds were put on his track, but he put them off his track by wading in a creek for five or six miles.

Near Eutaw he met a tramp and chummed with him; but one day the tramp gave him away, and a large crowd of citizens came up with him and one hun dred shots were fired at him, but he dodged away in the swamps unhurt.

A few days since a mule was stolen in Lauderdale county, Mississippi, and the next day three farmers saw a man riding on the lost mule. They demanded that he yield to them but he resisted and attempted to shoot, when one of his pursuers unhorsed him with a load of squirrel shot. When the latter was asked why he didn't use buckshot, he replied: "That was a skeer gun; I was goin' to git him next time with buckshot."

CONSTITUTIONALS.

Pencil, Paragraphs and Editorial Shortstops Caught on the Run.

Since the death of Colonel Brown there are only seven survivors among the pioneers of Macon. On the 27th of June, 1827. Colonel J. Madison Jones arrived in Macon, and he gives the names of six, who were then and remain here today. They are himself, J. C. C. Barnett, Albert Ross, and Walter T. Hellingsworth, of men, and Mrs. W.1A. Pool, Mrs. James Flanders and Mrs. Caroline Welliford. They, of all that goodly company, after sixty years, remain to rehearse the legends of Macon's Infancy. There was only one house west of the river then, and it was a 19x12 log pen for the ferryman.

It was when Colonel George S. Obear was mayor that a young man made the famous reply to his reprimand. The young fellow was bright and dashing and possessed of fine natural advantages of family connection as well as his inherent qualities. But he would drink. He was up before the mayor after one of his sprees, and his hour was disposed to be pretty severe. "John," said he, disposed to be pretty severe. "John," said he, "you are going to the bad. You are fooling with a dangerous thing when you tackle liquor. Now, I am going to learn you a lesson. I shall fine you twenty dollars for this irolic." "Very good, please your honor," said the young man, and then added, with a twinkle in his eye: "But, Mayor Obear, what difference will it make in a hundred years?"

Poor boy! He died just in the dawn of a prom-ising menhood. His death was a shock to the little town. People were talking of it, and one old gentleman, who is alive today, says he was standing on the corner when two noted soaks came along, both of them bewailing the folly of the youth, and saying what a pity it was that one so bright should be thus cut down. "And," continued the speaker, "they were both tottering our the verge of the grave from dissipation then, and I was much impressed with their moralizing. In less than three weeks one of them died suddenly in his bed, and the other was found dead near a whisky barrel in a saloon, where he had drank

Captain Giles has a yarn about a Twiggs county toper. William Jones was a great fellow to drink. He would buy a jug full and take it off with him to the woods where he would remain for days, gadding about from one place to another, replenishing his jug at the various country stores. Sometimes he would place the jug on one side of the road and seat himself on the other, and he and the jug would hold animated discussions, which always resulted in a reconciliation, he insisting on a kine to which, of course, the jug never objected. He would sing songs, and his mandlin fancy would lead him into some very foolish capers.

William got sick one day, and his wife, who was a sensible, hard working woman, paid very little attention to him, until she saw that William was a little poorlier than she apprehended at first. Her heart grew soft, as all women's will, and searching around she found William doubled up in a corner, looking very woe-begone. He pretended to be too

No response "William, try a little cold tea."

No answer "William, I am afraid you are going to be bad off. Shall I fix you up a little sweetened toddy?"

Bob C. tells the funniest thing on himself. Bob can tell it far better than I can write it, and you must imagine a wheezy, fat man, with numerous little hitches in his voice, to appreciate Bob's style. He tells the story thus: "When Huff was mayor, 'way back in the long sgo, I was just about as wild a chap as there was in town. I got to hitting the red eye pretty heavily, and several times I was called up before his honor, who would fine me five or ten dollars. But one time I got on a big tear, and when I was brought up next morning I knew right away that Huff was going to swinge me. He looked at me a little, and then begun a lecture, [enumerating my sins on his fingers as he went.

"Bob,' he began, 'you are making a nuisance of yourself. You are getting to be a vagabond, and the caim, measured tones of his voice took me down considerable. Then he grew more benevolent as he continued counting on his fingers: 'Bob, you come of good, family. I knew your father—a good, honest citizen. I knew your two uncles, and both of them are as good men as fords. Here he told off three fingers and I felt real good, for I thought he was placing that many points to my credit. 'Yes, Bob, I knew them well' and now I am going to teach you a lesson. I fin you thirty-five dollars.'

'Phe-w-w!' I involuntarily ejaculated, 'Please, your honor, if you had a known my grandfather, I believe you would have made it a hundred !" Macon, July 16, 1886.

Harlem square had trees torn up by the roots and the limbs of others were wrung off. On Fremont avenue nearly all the houres were flooded. The sterm broke at Hollins street, and moved northward ten blocks to Harlem avenue. Joists were caught up by the wind and hurled through the air covering destruction to wind. through the air, carrying destruction to windows and, in some instances, knocking chimneys and bricks from the tops of buildings. At a late hour tonight, some of the streets are impassable from blockade of tin roofs and scantlings. No personal injury was sustained as far as can be ascertained.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 15.—[Special.]—The convention reasembled this morning, and balloting was resumed. On the eleventh ballet Echols county gave another one third vote to Nerwood, and McIntosh, which was dividd, cast her full vote, making the ballot stand Norwood 198, Mershon 16, Bradwell 41. On the 37th ballot, no change being effected, metion to take a recess until twelve o'clock was carried. On reassembling the balloting was continued to the 50th ballot, with no change whatever. The convention then adcorned until four o'clock. Balloting was again resumed, and eight ballots were taken, with no change, when a motion was made to adjourn until nine o'clock tomorrow, and car-

There is no sign of yielding on either side. The Norwood men are confident of a break tomorrow in the opposition, and hope to secure enough votes to make an appeal to the others, and secure the nomination. The Mershon and Bradwell delegates, however, seem determined tonight, and my that if the ballot shows no change tomorrow they will make a motion to adjourn the convention to Jesup. The chances for the dark horse are becoming better, and the impression of many is that this will be the result. The delegates are all apparently in good humer, but manifest a disposition to take an ontsider, rather than yield to any opponent before the convention now.

The committee will meet at the courthouse in this place next Tuesday, 12 o'clock, for the purpose of arrauging for the selection of delegates to the congressional and senatorial convention and decide the time and manner of nominating candidates for representatives to the general assembly.

As to the congressional candidates the race in this county, we think, will be between Hammond and Mynatt. Stewart has many friends in this county, but hardly enough to enter the contest for delegates. Colonel Mynatt's friends very confidently claim the county, so does Colonel Hammond's, and nothing short of an actual test will satisfy either side they are not correct.

We have a three candidates for senator thirty-fourth district, which includes the counties of De-Kabb. Henry and Gwinnett.

The senator is to be selected from this county, and the candidates are Dr. Jno. L. Hamilton and Mr. W. M. Raggedale of Stone Mountain, and Colonel E. M. Word will address the chizens of the county on the issues of the day, at the countrouse in this place, at the noon recess of the superior court. county for the fourth congressional district, as follows:

Whereas, Hon. A. D. Freeman is a candidate for the nomination to represent the fourth district in the national congress. Ooweta, in convention assembled, desires to assure the democracy of the district that he is one of our most distinguished sons, pre-eminently fitted to represent them in the high office to which he aspires. In war, as a soldier he distinguished himself for gailantry; in peace as a citizen, for utility and virtue; in the church as a Christian, for devotion and piety. A character thus established is a guaranty in his hands no public trust will be betrayed and no interest of the people will be neglected. The democratic party has had no truer supporter. In her councils he has been wise, on the stump eloquent, and in the labor of her many conflicts he has worked with a zeal uniting. With such a record, he deserves support; therefore, be it.

Resolved, That the delegates selected by this convention be instructed to vote for the nomination of A. D. Freeman and employ all honorable means to secure his nomination.

Colonel Freeman will be strong in the convention and will have a strong backing in the convention and will have a strong backing in the convention and will have a strong backing in the convention and will have a strong backing in the convention sent of the district.

LOSSES IN INDIAMA.

MARION, Ind., July 15.—Reports of the wind, rain and hail storm which swept over this county Tuesday show that the devastation was much greater than indicated by first reports. In some places hail fell and covered the ground two inches, and in other places corn, oats and fruits are a total loss. Corn stalks are stripped and broken. Oats are beaten down on the ground, and fruit is beaten from the trees. Wheat, which was nearly all in the shock, will, much of it, have to be gathered out of the woods and corn fields where it was carried by the wind, and probably a hundred buildings in the county were unroofed or blown down. QUEERMAKERS CAUGHT.

WELL KNOWN CITIZENS WOODVILLE ARRESTED.

They are Charged with Making and Pessing Donin-terfeit Sliver Money—The Whole County Flooded with the Spurious Coin—Inter-esting Pages About the Case, Sto.

Collector Crenshaw has succeeded in workng up a first-class sensation.

The main actors in the sensation are two of the prominent men of Woodville, a small sta-tion on the Georgia road, below Union Point. The men are charged with making and passing counterfeit money, and it is stated that there is an abundance of evidence against

A few days ago Deputy Collector Smith, while going down the Georgia road on a business trip, stopped over at Union Point and Wood-ville. While at Union Point he bought a few cigars, giving a two dollar bill and receiving the change in silver. He did not notice the money, but carelessly dropped it down money, but carelessly dropped it wow.

place he attended to his business, and during the afternoon bought a few cigars. Mr. Smith was pleased with his day's work, and at an early hour retired.

Next morning after leaving Woodville, he discovered with his money two or three counterfeit half dollars and dimes. He knew he was given them at Union Point, or Woodville, from the fact that he had no silver money when he reached Union Point. He was puzzled and scarcely knew what to do. He feit statisfied, however, that there must be

He was puzzled and scarcely knew what to do. He felt satisfied, however, that there must be something wrong, or so much of the spurious coin would not have been passed on him in so short a time. His business would not allow him to return to the two places and investigate, as he was compelled to go further down the road. After a short time he decided to acquaint Collector Crenshaw WITH ALL THE FACTS.
He accordingly wrote Collector Crenshaw a long letter, giving in detail all the facts, and stating that he believed the money was being circulated in Woodville and Union Point both.

circulated in Woodville and Union Point both. The pieces of counterfeit money were sent the collector along with the letter.

Mr. Crenshaw considered the letter carefully, and sent Deputy Collector Fite to the two towns to make a thorough investigation. Fite spent several dimes at Union Point, but was unable to catch on to anything. He would buy a dime's worth of cigars and throw down a five-dollar bill for change. When the change was given he would examine it carefully, but could not strike a single spurious piece. After satisfying himself thoroughly, that if there was any counterfeit money at Union Point, it was a very scarce article, he was more successful, and was not long in getting hold of a number of pieces of counterfeit money. The whole town looked like it was flooded with the stuff. The matter was worked quietly, but effectively. In less than a day he had things

THE PAYNE CASE.

Continued from Third Column First Page. which could cross the state lines. It would hardly be doubted that cases of the purchase of seats in the senate would rapidly multiply under the decision proposed by the majority of the committee. The first great precedent to constitute a rule under this branch of the law was to be this of the committee. The first great precedent to constitute a rule under this branch of the law was to be this:

Held, by the senate of the United States, that a charge made by the legislature of a state and by a committee of the political party to which the larger number of its citizens belong and by ten of its representatives in congress that an election of a senator was procured by bribery, accompanied by an offer to prove the fact, does not deserve the attention of the senate.

The report concludes with a resolution directing an investigation of the charge and with the recommendation that it be adopted. Senators Teller, Evarts and Logan unite in a report in which, after reciting the circumstances surrounding the senatorial election in Ohio in 1884, it is stated that no action was taken by the state legislature which elected Senator Payne, calling in question the validity of his election, but that the new legislature constituted in January, of the present year, had adopted a resolution under which an investigation of Donovan's charges had been made. The senate committee had found it proper to accept the presentation of the case set out in the majority and minority reports of the select committee of the Ohio house of representatives. The only constitutional warrant for an investigation in a case like that presented, is in the clause making each house of congress judge of the qualifications of its own members and the clause conferring the right of expulsion.

The signers of the report do not find that a case has been presented that would affect Mr. Payne with such turpitude as would tolerate his expulsion from the senate, nor that the testimony is accessible that touches the subject of personal inculpation of Mr. Payne. They, therefore, turn their attention to the question of the validity of his election to the senate. The report holds that evidence in such a case must show that the fraud, which it alleged was committed, embraced enough in the number of voting electors to have changed the result. The testimony p support of Pendleton to that of Payne. Of the two senators and two representatives named in the majority report of the select committee (Mooney and Roche) of the house, and White and Ranney of the senate, the signers of the report refer with observation of their own to the majority and minority reports of the Ohio committee. They do not find that the select committee recommended any action by the legislature, looking to any further investigation and they express the opinion that there was no evidence presented to the United States senate, which purports to prove that fraud, corruption or bribery was employed in Mr. Payne's election, affecting votes, either in caucus or in the legislature, votes, either in caucus or in the legislature, whereby the election was carried, to affect his election, nor is there evidence that any such proof exists.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP. The Expenses of the Government-The Mor

WASHINGTON, July 15 .- The joint resolution providing temporarily for the expenses of government until July 31 was submitted to the president this afternoon, and was at once the president this afternoon, and was at once approved. Statements prepared at treasury department show that the receipts of the government so far this month are decidedly less than the expenditures, and that unless an improvement occurs before the end of the month, the public debt statement, to be issued August 1st, will show little if any decrease. Payments have been unusually heavy, over $10,000,000 having been paid out this week on pensions alone.

The cabinet at its meeting today discussed the action of the house yesterday in passing resolutions providing for the use of $100,000,000 in the redemption of United states bonds and the prospects of the resolution in the senate. Another question considered was in regard to the advisability of transferring the Apache Indians, in Arizona, to the Indian territory.

ocks as Reported at the New York Stock

NEW YORK, July 15.—The strength displayed by the market today was unexpected and was very confusing to many operators, but the present bear confusing to many operators, but the present bear party is always ready to run at the first alarm. There was some talk about developments in Erie, and soon after the opening of the board buying of Erie attracted attention, not only on account of the amount purchased but also because of the good character of buying. It later was reported from official sources that earnings for the month of June would show an increase of $375,000 gross and about $500,000 net. Buying began in Grangers, Union Pacific and Trunk line shares, while a clique lifted Western Union. The bears then followed to cover and the rise on the latter stock was materially asand the rise on the latter stock was materially asand the rise on the latter stock was materially as-sisted by large orders, presumably for the account of an operator lately of the bear side. Later in the day news was received that a meeting of Granger presidents in Chicago has appointed a committee to formulate plans for making a temporary pool, and peace in that region was regarded as almost certain, and in the last hour prices moved up sharply again and closed at the best of the day.

with nearly a mile of the finest water power on the Chattahoochee river, just above the city of Columbus.

CTATE OF GEORGIA, MUSCOGEE COUNTY—By No virtue of the power vested in us under the terms and conditions of a certain deed of trust executed to the undersigned J. Rhodes Browne and A. Illges, trustees, by the Columbus manufacturing company, of Muscogee county, state of Georgia, dated March 1, 1884, whereby the said corporation conveyed to us all the property, real and personal, hereinafter described, in trust, to secure the payment of its certain issue of bonds and the interest coupons thereof as in said trust deed specified and enumerated (all of which appears duly of record in Mortgage Peed Book "A.", folios 367 to 373, March 5, 1884, in the clerk's office of superior court Muscogee county, Georgia and in Record Deeds, volume of the probate court in the county of Lee, state of Alabama, and in conformity with the directions and terms prescribed in the resolutions passed by the holders of said bonds, on April 24, 1886, under the authority conferred by said deed of trust.

We will sell in the city Columbus, Muscogee county, Georgia, on the 3d day of August, 1886, between the legal hours of sale, in front of the auction house of F. M. Knowles & Co. on the northwest corner of Broad street and Tenth (formerly Crawford street,) Cheing the usual place for sheriffs sales in said city of Columbus at public outcry, to the highest bidder. for cash, the following described property of the Columbus manufacturing company, to-wit: All those lots and parcels of fand situated, lying and being, as follows: Fractiona section number therety, six (25) and the north half of fractional section number eighteen (18), range number thirty (30) in formerly Russell now Lee county, state of Alabama. Also the following lots of lands lying and being in the eightee for shariffs and situated and township number eighteen (18), range number thirty (30) in formerly Russell now Lee county, state of Alabama. Also the following is a residence an manufacturing company held and possessed therein under the laws of Georgia.

The plant of said cotton factory consists at present of 4.544 spindles, 149 looms and other suitable machinery, all in good condition and producing good work. Present capacity 7,500 yards a day of heavy sheetings and shirtings, three yards to the dound.

The operatives' houses and improvements generally in excellent condition, labor abundant, lands elevated and location of property unsurpassed for health, convenience and economical production—free from the burden of municipal taxes paid by all the other Columbus mills, yet within three miles of the city of Columbus and three quarters of a mile of Columbus and Rome railroad. The water power is the finest in the south, controlling and embracing the whole bed of the Chattahoochee river for the distance of about one mile along the lands of the company, said lands extending along ts banks upon the Georgia and Alabama sides of the river. Only a small portion of the water power is required and utilized in running the present mill and the natural falls in the river render but a simple inexpensive dam of logs and plank necessary. This magnificent water power is easily controlled and has a fall of lorty-two and a half (42)-6 feet within three quarters (34) of a mile. With a comparatively small expenditure upon a new dam, 125,000 (one hundred and twenty-twe thousand) spindles with looms in proportion can be driven by this water power; all that is needed to make this property the site of a prosperous and populous manufacturing village. The personal inspection of capitalists is invited. Full and satisfactory details will be furnished on application, J. RHODES BROWNE, A. HLIGES,

WILL MEET NEXT MONDAY .- The general WILL MEET MEAN MONDAY.—The general conseil will convene in regular session next Monday afternoon. The session will be an important one, as the Crew street work will be considered, and the financial condition of

SHE IS QUITE ILL.—MIS. C. H. Moore, wife of Conductor Moore, of the East Tennessee rad, is critically ill at her home on Bell street. Bir. Moore has been in Atlanta only a few weeks and has always been quite sickly. Her inether reached Atlanta from Lebanon, Tenn., recterday in response to a telegram announcing her daughter's serious illness.

BISHOF-COLLIER.—Yesterday afternoon, at balf past three o'clock, at the residence of Dr. T. E. Collier, 29 Moore stree, Mr. T. M. Bishop was united in matrimony to Miss Mamie Collier, the lovely daughter of Dr. Collier. Ray. T. P. Cleveland performed the ceremony. Only a few invited friends were present. The young couple have the congratulations and best wishes of a host of friends.

MR. JOE F. PORTER DENIES.—Mr. JOE F. Politer has sent THE CONSTITUTION a card, in which he denies that he is an escaped convict. He says that he was sentenced for a misdementor to work in Fulton county for twelve menths, and that he was sent to the Dade coal mises by his own request. The fine of one hundred dollars for gambling, he says he never heard of until the third of July, 1886.

Not the Man.—John T. Edwards, colored, who is employed at the office of the Southeastern Tariff association, desires us to state that he is not the person who was arrested last evening while trying to effect an entrance into the store of John Ryan. We make this explanation to prevent any misapprehension into which the similarity of names might lead those who read the article of yesterday.

LIKE A LITTLE SOLDIER.-Yesterday a lad ramed Johnnie Harold, living near Eastman, Georgia, was brought to Atlanta, by his father, to have Drs. Westmoreland and Howell perform an operation on his arm, he having sprained it while wrestling three weeks ago. It was found necessary to put the arm in a cast. The operation was very painful, but the little fellow went through it like a soldier.

THE LATEST BOOKS.—Yesterday Mr. Philip Breitenbucher received four samples of flask books. To all appearances the books are gennine, but the touch of a spring causes a bottle to pep up. The books are neatly bound, and are entitled, "Reveries of a Bachelor," Marvel, "Tangle Weed Notes," Hawthorne; "Our Muttal Friend," Dickens, and "Great Expectations," Harris. Mr. Breitenbucher says he has no idea who sent these pocket gymnastums.

THEY WANT TO GO .- On the 31st of this They Want to Go.—On the 31st of this month the colored military! will have a big time in Chattanooga. The Governor's Volunteers and Fulton Guards of this city are anxious to go and take part, but unless they receive financial assistance from their white friends they cannot go. In the prize drill the first prize is $150 and the second $50. The Zouave Guards, of Memphis, Langston Rifles, of Nashville, and Chattanooga Light Infantry have already entered.

A SAD DEATH.—Mattie Plum, ten year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Plum, residing on Formwaldt street, near Cooper street, died yesterday afternoon after a brief illness. On Sunday last the child returned home from thurch with a severe headache and that night a bad fever emited. The next morning she was worse and a physician was called in but he found the fever so obstinate that it could not be checked. She continued to grow worse until yesterday afternoon when death ensued.

THE LAMP EXPLODED .- Quite an excitement was created on Peters street, near For-syth, last night, by a lamp exploding in the residence of Mr. Weaver. The lamp was suspended from the ceiling, but from some cause the chain broke and the lamp dropped to the floor. The fall was sufficient to break the bowl of the lamp, and in an instant the oil was on fire. The bright blaze attracted a large trowd, but no trouble was experienced in extinguishing the flames, as some one present was each enough to throw a blanket over them before the experience had company and continue to the content of th before the carpeting had caught.

MRS. HEMPHILL'S BARBECUE.-Mrs. W. A. mas. HEMPHILL'S BARBECUE.—Mrs. W. A. Hemphill on yesterday afternoon entertained several of her friends, including the staff of The Constitution, at a barbecue near Ponce de Leon springs. It was a pleasant occasion, not only for the deliciously flavered meats which tempted the palate, but for the cordial and heartful manner in which the aveciliar. and heartfelt manner in which the excellent hostess made her friends feel at home. Every element of the old time barbecue was present. the scene was in a pleasant valley, by a run-ning stream, just such a place as fancy would paint for it. The guests returned home high-ty charmed with the hospitality to which they had been treated.

AN INTERESTING MEETING .- Last night at AN INTERESTING MEETING.—Last night at Manetta Street Mission an interesting meeting was held. The room was well filled and the services were conducted by Mr. W. P. Patillo, who gave an earnest and forcible talk, during which he had the close attention of every person present. The talk made a deep impression on the congregation and several came forward for prayer. New faces are seen at these meetings every night and many of them are faces of these who have not usually been found in such places. Those who have the meetings in such places. Those who have the meetings in charge are very much in need of Christian charge are very much in need of curisdian help. At every meeting ten or fifteen addi-tional workers could find plenty to do. Chris-tians of all denominations are carnestly invit-ted to attend and take an active part in the work. Services tonight. THE LECTURE TONIGHT.—The Hon, Henry W. Hilliard lectures tonight in the opera louse under the auspices of the Armstrong Lecture association. His subject will be American Statesmanship, as illustrated in Clay, Calhoun and Webster. From the interesting character of the subject, and the well known reputation of the lecturer, our people may be assured that if they will attend the lecture they will enjoy a rare and rich treat. Judge Hilliard's large experience in the statesmanship of his country, together with his wide and varied intellectual culture, makes him pre-eminently qualified to present his subject in an impressive and captivating manner. Our people should give themselves the Pleasure and profit of hearing him, while in doing so they will be honoring one of our most distinguished men. THE LECTURE TONIGHT.—The Hon, Henry most distinguished men. Heres Built This Year.—Several weeks are Mayor Hillyer requested Chief Connolly to direct the members of the mounted department of the police force to ascortain the number of new houses built in Atlanta since the first of January last. The chief directed the men to count the buildings and give their location. The work was completed day before yesterday afternoon and the reports of the men consolidated resort shows that 267 houses have and transmitted to Mayor Hillyer. The consolidated report shows that 267 houses have been begun and completed in Atlanta since January last. The number of houses built the report is extremely gratifying to Mayor Hillyer and every true citizen of Atlanta. In addition to the 267 houses completed, the officers found as many more in progress of tenstruction. Herses BUILT THIS YEAR.—Several weeks

FEMALE BASEBALLISTS. CONSTITUTION.

THEIR PICTURES CAUSE A SMALL SENSATION.

How the Pictures Are Used to Advertise Cigarette What Mayor Hillyer Says-Stories About the Cigarette Makers-What the Pictures Ocst-Immense Sales of Them. Mtc.

Another cigarette picture sensation is agitating certain good people in Atlanta. This time the pictures are displayed in a window in the Kimball house, on the Pryor street side. They represent nine handsome female baseball players in attitudes common in that pop-Since two weeks ago, it has been a daily occurrence for crowds to gather around the win-dow and gaze admiringly upon the graceful forms depicted by the photographer's art. All sorts of people have been there, from the ragged boot black to the merchant prince. A few days ago, a prominent member of the bar of a south Georgia town, vainly attempted to buy a set of the pictures.

"They are not sold," he was informed by the agent of the eigarettes, "but are given to dealers in tobacco to use as advertisements." "Well," replied the lawyer, "I am A DEALER IN TOBACCO, and I want a few sets to use as advertise ments."

"All right," said the agent, "buy five or ten thousand cigarettes and I'll give you half a dozen sets."

dozen sets."

The lawyer withdrew, disappointed.
The crowds around the window finally attracted the attention of the police. Captain Russell examined the pictures a few days ago, but did not make a case sgainst the agent. He informed a Constitution reporter that he had received no orders to do so.

"What are you going to do about those pictures of female base ball players?" the reporter inquired of Mayor Hillyer.

"I don't know," he replied, "the matter has not yet been brought to my attention."

not yet been brought to my attention."

A number of staid citizens have expressed themselves as being opposed to the exhibition of the pictures, and have declared their intention to request Mayor Hillyer to interfere. It is claimed by these citizens that the pictures are indeent. THE RAGE FOR USING PICTURES to advertise cigarettes was started several years ago by the manufacturers of popular brands in Havana. Later several manufacturers in the southern states followed suit. When the pictures of the female baseball players were sent out every dealer in tobacco in the country was crazy to get them as show window attractions.

A short time ago the New York Sun, the dow attractions.

A short time ago the New York Sun, the New York Sunday Dispatch, the New York Journal and various other papers in the metropolis began a crusade against the exhibition in show windows of the pictures representing the luscious baseball nine. Mr. Anthony Comstock, agent for the society for the suppression of vice, joined in the crusade. He had the pictures seized wherever found, and issued a stringent order to dealers to suppress all similar cigarette advertisements. The dealers claimed that Mr. Comstock's action was wholly uncalled for, and that the pictures Were Not More Immoral. or indecent than pictures of well known actresses exhibited in the barrooms of leading hotels, and by large photographic establishments in the regular collections of pictures usually displayed by them for advertising purposes. Some of the more defiant dealers went so far as to announce their intention to contest in the courts of law the right of Mr. Comstock to seize the pictures alluded to, or to forbid them to exhibit them in their show windows. In the end, however, the dealers submitted.

In Atlanta, the dealers, as a rule, take the same position as that assumed by the New York dealers. They declare that several of the Atlanta photographers exhibit pictures similar to those of the female baseball players, and that if the latter should be suppressed, so sheald the former. None of them, however, will make a fight if the city authorities decide to interfere.

THE PRETTY PICTURES

of the "cigarette maker," an account of which was printed in THE CONSTITUTION some time ago, were the cause of some interesting incidents. One of them was related in The Constitution. Since then, some of the sensational papers have promulgated various romantic and improbable stories regarding the pretty cigarette makers. Some of them were to the effect that rich old bachelors had been known to become ensurered of the originals. known to become enamored of the originals of the pictures, and had been attracted to the places where the cigarettes were manufactur-ed, formed the acquaintance of the fascinating creatures, and proposed marriage. A Boston paper recently gave circulation to a story that one of the girls whose picture had been an atone of the girls whose picture had been an attractive feature in the show windows of many cigarette dealers refused the hand of an opulent banker, who became so heart broken in consequence that he drowned himself "till he was dead." A Philadelphia paper published a story STILL MORE MELODRAMATIC,

It was no less than that the late king of Bavaris who recently committed statisticate took aris, who recently committed sulcide, took his life because of a love affair in which a pretty cigarette maker figured. The story went on to say that he had sent to this country one Count-You Hildemann, to induce the girl to go over to Bavaria to avail herself of the proffered hand of the king, but that she indignantly refused. Another, story as true one proffered hand of the king, but that she indignantly refused. Another story—a true one—was to the effect that once upon a time the students in a northern college decorated their rooms with the pictures of the pretty cigarette makers, and that the practice was promptly condemned by one of the professors, and the students were ordered to discontinue it at once under penalty of expulsion. The students, the story continued, in an effervescence of mischief common among college boys, punished the professor by placing a blind horse in his sleeping apartment.

WHATEVER THE EFFECT

the various styles of pictures used to advertise cigarettes may have upon morals, there is no cigarettes may have upon morals, there is no disputing the fact that they cause immense numbers of eigarettes to be sold. Yesterday an agent of a leading Virginia eigarette gaau-factory informed the reporter that since the first of January the proprietors had expended twenty thousand dollars for advertising pictures.

"How many cigarettes were sold in that "More than twenty-seven millions."

"Did the sum expended for pictures decrease the profits much?"
"Yes; the profits were decreased to such an extent that the most stringest orders were issued to agents not to give the pictures to anybody except those who patronize the manufactor."

For the benefit of the dudes, it may be said that the cigarette pictures in no instance rep-resent real cigarette makers. They are all taken in New York, from young women specially employed to sit for them.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The Work of the Department During the Past Year.

During the past year Atlanta has demon-strated the fact that she has the best fire department of any city of her size in the partment of any city of her size in the country.

Indeed, so satisfactory has been its record, for that time, that improvements which were contemplated a year ago have been indefinitely suspended as being unnecessary. And now the fire department and the insurance companies are troubled because they are afraid that they are about to lose that which was almost assured a year ago, viz., a new engine house and equipments. At that time the underwriters guaranteed a reduction in insurance rates if the city bought another engine and red. Cap Joyrner was elected chief just about this time. The city bought the new engine and equipments bought another engine and reel. Cap Joyner was elected chief just about this time. The city bought the new engine and equipments at a cost of nearly $5,000, and the lot on the corner of Pryor and Wheat streets for $4,000, for the erection of engine house No. 4. Plans for the new building were submitted, but after making the outlay of $9,000 the council took no further steps in the matter, which is still at rest, with the magnificent engine stowed away and the lot and plans unimproved.

It is presumed that the council thought that the department had been made good enough by the new chief, and that it was better not to make the increased expenditure necessary to maintain the new quarters.

"I am sorry that they did not give me the new house," said Chief Joyner yesterday, "for we really need it to complete the department. We have now three engine and reel houses and one for the trucks. This is sufficient ordinarily, but we really need another engine house, to be prepared for emergencies. I have been fortunate with the fires I have handled during the year, and my present force has been amply sufficient, but I am constantly anxious lest I will sometimes find that my force is too small. I have applied again for the new house and quarters for the new corps which would run No. 4, and I hope the council will grant it."

The RECORD OF A YEAR. council wili grant it."

THE BECORD OF A YEAR,
Chief Joyner has just finished the first year of his administration as chief of the paid deof his administration as chief of the paid de-partment, and has made a remarkable record. The department has answered for the year, ending July 9tb, 1886, 186 alarms of fire. The total value of property on fire, including buildings and contents, during the year was $728,—036, and the damage to the same was $37,105, and of that amount $11,904 was out of the reach of water, leaving the actual damage where the department could do service $25,—012.

During the last six months of the year pre vious, or from January to July, 1885, the property on fire amounted to $383,000 in value, and the damage done reached $120,000, or about six times as much in six months as the total damage which Chief Joyner has sustained in

During the past year reductions have been made in insurance rates, and that of Atlanta is now fifteen per cent lower than that of Mobile, Jacksonville and Montgomery, and is much lower than that of Chattanooga, Savannah, Macon or Charleston. If the new engine and aquad is put in operation, it is believed that rates will be still lowered.

Chief Joyner, with his family, has recently moved into the new apartments fitted for them in the hook and ladder building. They occupy the whole third floor of the building, which has been remodelled into an elegant and conveniently arranged flat. Two sleeping apartments, diving-room, reception room, kitchen, and servant's room compose the flat, and the whole floor has been fulshed and furnished in the most tasty and comfortable manner. It is whole floor has been finished and furnished in the meet tasty and comfortable manner. It is a model home, and the presence of the chief at all times is a great advantage. Electric bells and calls summon him at every tap of the fire bell, and by the brass rod which ex-tends from the head of his bed through the in-tervening floors to the truck room below, he slides through at the tap of his bell, and reaches the bottom before the horses are hooked to the trucks.

The third floor of the building contained

The third floor of the building contained, until recently, nothing but a large hall which had never been put to any particular use, and the new idea of the chief is an admirable one. The firemen made the transformation at odd hours, and the work has been excellently done.

Burglar Caught,

Burglar Caught,

At 7:30 p. m. yesterday, in the Burglar Alarm office, an alarm sounded which indicated that some one was tampering with the doors or windows of Mr. John Ryan's store. The special policeman of the company, Mr. Joe L. Granthen, was sent to investigate. He looked around and found that the doors and windows were securely fastened, and notified the "central," when he was informed that there was trouble and to go back and guard the store. On his return he discovered a negro boy, about elighteen years old, with a key in the lock of the door on Broad street. He approached and asked him what he was doing. The boy said "he was locking the door for Mr. Ryan." The policeman arrested the boy to carry him to the stationhouse. In the scuffie the boy threw away the keys. The policeman carried him to the stationhouse, and after he was placed behind the bars the policeman went back and found the keys that the negro threw out into the street when he was being arrested. The Burglar Alarm company have their wires in good shape and the same in charge of careful hands. There are few business men but that would have the statenment if they only understood the system. The weekly statement, showing time of closing and opening stores, and any other times the buildings are entered after regular closing, and who it is entering, is of great value and protection.

HOGAN BADLY HURT.

ATLANTA'S CENTER FIELDER IN JURED YESTERDAY.

He Runs for a Ball, but Palls, Driving His Hee rough the Fence-The Audience Korrifi with the Belief that He Was Killed-A Fine Game of Ball Played.

The Atlantas lost a game yesterday and came very near losing one of her best players. Hogan, the new center fielder, being seriously injured in the later half of the eighth inning. The injuries may keep Hogan off the dia mond the rest of the season.

When Nashville went to the bat, Board, the first man up, went out at first. Hillery, how-ever, got second where he remained until O'Brien went out. Taylor then picked up the bat and succeeded in hitting a ball. He hit it hard and it went high into the air and out towards the center field fence. Hogan gauged the ball and made a hard run for it. He ran his best, but just as he reached the ball, which he was watching, one foot went into the water drain close to the fence. Hogan did no see the drain and was running so rapidly when he stepped into it that he could not rewhen he stepped into it that he could not re-cover himself, and was thrown against the fence with great force. The top of his head strutk the fence first, and with such force that one of the thick plank was absolutely split in two and knocked off. The noise made by the col-lision and the splitting of the board was dis-tinctly heard in the grand stand. Hogen's lision and the splitting of the board was distinctly heard in the grand stand. Hogan's head went through the opening made by the displaced plank, and with his body flat upon the ground he remained perfectly motionless. Nearly every one present felt certain that the player's neck had been broken by the fall, and while Shafer, the fielder, ran for the ball, Cline, Stricker, Lynch and Purcell ran to their comrade. In a second, al most, the ball was fielded in, the play was completed and then every player on the ground ran to Hogan. The audience was highly worked up, and as the players picked the unfortunate fellow up and started to the club house with him, the belief that he had been killed gained ground. Dr. Nicholson hurried upon the field, and as soon as he rached the man there was a halt. The halt was short, and when the party started to move was short, and when the party started to move again Hogan could be seen walking slowly between Lynch, of the Atlantas, and Marr, of Nashville. The sight was so agreeable to the audience that a terrible shout was sent up. Hogan was led into the club house where Dr. Nichelson examined and dressed his injuries. He was placed in a carriage and driven to the Kimball. He was resting easy late last night and his injuries are not as bad as were at first feared. He has a badly used up head, a bruised shoulder and a lacerated left arm. A large number ef, his friends called at his room last night to see him, and every attention possible was given him.

night to see him, and every attention possible was given him.

The game was an exciting, interesting and uncertain one from the first to the last ball, but the impression prevailed that Atlanta would have won but far the unfortunate accident. Nashville presented O'Brien and Hellman, while Atlanta had Shaffer and Gunson up. The game opened with Cline at the bat. He hit the first ball O'Brien pitched, but went out at first. Purcell made first on a clean hit to center and stole second. Hogan drove a hot one to Goldsby and Purcell started for home, but just as he reached the plate Hellman grabbed the ball, which Goldsby fielded in, and McQuade called Purcell out. The grand stand and the bleaching boards did not agree with McQuade, and for the first time since he has been umpiring in Atlanta he was guyed. His decision was clearly wrong, but everybody who has seen McQua de's work believes that he was honest in it. The game then progressed with the firest playing ever seen on the grounds. Both teams were on their mettle. ed with the finest playing ever seen on the grounds. Both teams were on their mettle and although O'Brien was hit hard and often, and although O'Brien was hit hard and often, and Shaffer freely, neither side was able to de anything until the third inning. In that inning Gurson got first on a clean hit. Shaffer then hit to O'Brien who threw the ball to Bittman, outing Gunson. Bittman threw the ball to Taylor on first to out Shaffer and complete an easy double, but his throw was wild and Shaffer reached second on it. Shaffer reached third after Marr had caught Cline's fly. With Purcell at the bat O'Brien made a clean balk, which campt bat O'Brien made a clean balk, which caught Shaffer, but McQuade would not allow it, and Shaffer, but included would not allow it, and the side went out kicking. Bittman got first by being hit by Shaffer. Hellman got first on a single, which sent Bittman to second. Both were then advanced a base by Goldsby's safe single. With the bases full, Marr came to bat. Bittman was well off third when Shaffer imitated O'Brien's delivery and threw Bittman out at third. Goldsby kicked, and McQuade called it a balk, and Bittman was allowed to walk home. The next two innings were sharp and quick, and resulted walk home. The next two innings were sharp and resulted in goose eggs for both sides. Purcell opened the sixth with a clear hit to right for a single and stole second, while Hogan was waiting. Hogan hit to second and made first, because Bittman made a bad throw to third, to head off Purcell. Hogan easily stole second, Lynch then flew out to right and Purcell crossed the plate before Marr could field the ball in, Hogan going to third. Stricker made a safe hit for a base, and Hogan scored because the ball reached Hillman a second too late. Nashville went out in one, two, three order. Hogan refor a base, and Hogan scored occause the ball reached Hillman a second too late. Nashville went out in one, two, three order, Hogan retiring two of the three by hard running catches. Nothing but fine playing was done in the seventh. In the eighth Atlanta did not score. With Nashville at the bat a fine play was made. Beard hit a grounder to second; Stricker stumbled over the base and fell. Cline ran to his rescue and, grabbing the ball from under Stricker, got it to first in time to retire Beard. Hillery then hit to left for a single, and stole second while O'Brien was going out. With the two outs and Hillery on second, Taylor came to the bat and knocked the high fly which resulted in Hogan's injury. When Shafer saw Hogan go down he ran for the ball, but when he fielded it in Taylor had crossed the plate, and Nashville was credited with two runs. When the game was resumed, Conway was in the box and Shafer in center, but neither side scored.

No Game in Charleston

Today's game with Memphis had to be postponed on account of rain, but it will be played off tomorrow. At a meeting of the directors on Wednerday, it was decided to release Gardener, Crowley and Manager Cushman, and they were so informed today. These were all high salaried men, and they are said to have been released in order to reduce the expenses of the club. McAleer will replace Gardener in left field, and one of the catches will play in right field hereafter. The directions ers will play in right field hereafter. The directors will manage the dub for the present and Broenan will continue to act as captain of the

We call attention to a correction in the advertisement of the Armstrong Lecture association for the entertainment tonight. The lecture will be by the Hon, Henry W. A BUILDING FALLS.

AND UNDER ITS BIMBERS SEVERAL

The Work Gives Way and the Roof and Timbers Fall on the Workmen-A Narrow Escape from a Terrible Death-Several Men Are In-jured, One Quite Seriously, Etc.

Seven men were buried under the falling timbers of a building on the Western and At-lantic railroad, near the Chess-Carley oil nouse, yesterday afternoon about one o'clock. One of the men was seriously injured and The building was an old foundry. It was a large structure, and in it some very heavy timbers were used. A few weeks ago the owners of the building contracted with Pease, the house mover, to raise it. The contract put his hands to work, and in a short time had the building off the ground at the required height. The building was then SUPPORTED BY PINS and other appliances used in house-raising, and masons were then put to work to build a foundation under it. This work had been in progrets several days, and had gone so far that calpenters had begun re-arranging the interior. Yesterday morning the work on the building progressed smoothly, and when the noon hour came the men kneeked off. After an hour's rest, the men resumed work. The carpenters were on the inside while the stone mesons were scattered around the building on the ontside, placing heavy stones evenly and smoothly under the building, when suddenly

the building began tottering. For a second only these warnings of the terrible accident lasted, and then with a crash that was heard lasted, and then when a crash that was heard for blocks the rafters, joist, girders and roof came down, while the floor careened around and off its supports in some places. The timbers threw out a dust so blinding that the bers threw out a dust so blinding that the workmen could not see each other for a few minutes, and in horror and awe they stood still. Immediately after the crash of the falling timbers there was a silence painfully intense, but the silence was quickly broken by groars and calls for help emanating from a dozen throats. The groans and cries put action into those who were standing outside

first the work was slow, but as the dust cleared away, and the crowd of rescurers increased, the work progressed more rapidly, and in a r markably short while every man had been liberated, and then an investigation as to the dsmage done was made. By this it was ascerte ned that aix persons, three white and three co ored, had been hurt, one of them quite seri-uly, probably fatally. They are:
LAWRENCE FOX, white,
JOHN P. WEAVER, white,
ALFRED MOORE, colored.
WILLIAM BRYANT, colored.

The other two who were hurt were not seriously hurt, and went to their homes soon after the accident happened.

As soon as the injured men were taken from the building, messengers were sent for phones.

As soon as the injured men were taken from the building, messengers were sent for physicians and Drs. McFaul, Archer and Godkin responded and did what they could to relieve the suffering men, after which they were removed to their homes. Mr. Fox was directing the masonry and was more seriously hurt than any of the men. He was well advanced in years, and in addition to being bruised and scratched by the timbers was, it is feared,

INJURED INTERNALLY.

He was taken to his home at 72 Alexander street, and late last night was suffering intensely. His physicians are uncertain as to the result of his injuries. At the time the building fell Mr. Fox was working on the outside. His son and his nephew were both working on the building at the same time, and were also injured, but only slightly.

Mr. Weaver was superintending the carpen-and were also injured, but only slightly.

Mr. Weaver was superintending the carpenter work and was considerably bruised and scratched by the falling timbers but was not injured so much as Mr. Fox. He was taken to his home, 100 Pine street, and was resting nicely late list night.

NOT HURT SO MUCH.

Alf Moore, colored, was working with the masons, and was hurt almost as much as Mr. Fox. He was taken to his home, on Eliza alley, ond suffered a great deal. It was thought that his left coller bone and left arm were broken.

Bryant's injuries were principally scratches In addition to the six mentioned, several s were more or less bruised, Lad very narrow escapes, especially Mr. Harry Coggins, who was working on the outside.

Every upright timber in the building was thrown flat on the floor, and the roof came down, too. How those who were inside escaped death by being crushed, cannot be explained.

TIMBERS WERE ALL LARGE TIMBERS WERE ALL LARGE and heavy. No one can assign a cause for the accident. The building was securely propped, and apppeared to be firm and sound. The foundation was being built after the most approved style, and was up to the building in some places. The men had no warning what-ever until the timbers began cracking, and this lasted a second only. Mr. Coggins, who is a thorough workman, and who came near being killed, said:

"I can't explain it. The building was care-fully and properly raised and was properly supported. It appeared to give way all over and all at once, and came down with a terrible creah."

crash."

When the building fell Mr. Coggins was at a corner which flew up and just grazed his face. Had he been stooping down instead of standing, the corner of the building would have struck him under the chin with a terrible force. A second later and he would have been in that position. The noise made by the tim bers was heard half a mile away.

A BAD FALL.

Lady Falls Through a Grating on White-hall Street Yesterday.

Mrs. Williams, a widow living on Marietta street, near the Exposition mills, was painfully and seriously hurt yesterday afternoon, late, in front of Ripley's glassware house.

Mrs. Williams's injuries will confine her to bed for some time, and probably lame her for lite.

In front of the building occupied by Mr. Riply is an iron grating which extends from one end of the building to the other. The grating extends from the building to the sidewalk, and in order to enter the storethe grating must be crossed. Late yesterday afterneon Mrs. Williams started into the store, and see after stemping must the grating for the store, and see after stemping must be crossed. cernoon Mrs. Williams started into the store, and soon after stepping upon the grating it cither gave way or broke under her weight and one of her legs went through. The lady was unable to move and remained in the painful position until help arrived. She was then taken into the store and a physician sent for. Dr. Duncan responded to the call and found that the limb had been broken and that the knee cap was split. The doctor rendered the necessary attention, and then the lady was placed in a carriage and driven to her home.

Bitten By a Dog. Timmie Jackson, three year-old daughter of Stonewall Jackson, colored, was bitten by a dog yesterday morning. The child, accomparied by her mother, was passing along Marictta street and when near the counter factory encountered a large dog. The child and the dog were in the same path and when within a foot of the child the dog made a lunge at her and burying his teeth just under her left eye tore the flesh in a most frightful manner. Several persons raw that accident and ran to the child's rescue. She was then carried to Sharp's drug store, at 200 Marietts street, where the wound was dressed. Quite an excitement was created in the neighborhood by a rumor that the dog was mad. Policemen were on the lookout for the dog during the day, with instructions to kill him, but did not succeed in finding him. Timmie Jackson, three year-old daughter of

The Mason House Destroyed by Fire—The Work of Fire Bugs.

The old Mason house, in Decatur, was entirely destroyed by fire about nine o'clock lead of the control of the con last night. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

The building was a large two story frame structure, located on the south side of the courthouse square. About ten days or two weeks ago the house was vacated, and carpenters were put to work making changes and repairs. One of the carpenters, a Mr. Haynes, has been sleep-ing in the house at night. About nine o'clock ing in the house at night. About nine o'clock two negro men were seen going away from the corner in which the house stood. They were moving rapidly. Soon after the darkies disappeared some one near the building smelled kerosene strongly, and in looking about to see where the odor came from dicovered that the house was on fire. The fire was located in the second story of the building and was then under good headway. The slarm was given and the citizens turned out quickly, but the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the building. The timbers were old and dry and threw out an intense heat. The buildings adjacent were in great dauger, and some of them were on fire several times. The citizens used water freely, however, and by giving their attention almost entirely to the buildings saved them.

It is the general impression that the building was fired by the two darkies who were seen moving away rapidly before the fire was discovered. There was some loose paper, however, in one of the upper rooms and some believe that a match left there may have been the cause of the fire, aided by a mouse. The building belonged to Mrs. M. A. Ball, and was insured, but to what extent is not yet known. Neither can the loss be estimated. saved them.

Four Men Are Arrested for Furnishing Liquoria a Public Flace-The Browery Case not Tried Yet —Cases Made Against Fersons for Viola-ting the Law — Bound Over,

Since the first of the month it is unlawful in Atlanta for one person to give another a drink of liquor in any public place in the city. The first violation of this section of the pra-hibition law was reported yesterday. Austin Reid, John Fisher, Pat Kelly and

Austin Reid, John Fisher, Pat Kelly and George Kile were discovered by Patrolman Poole in the rear of Moore & Marsh's new building, drinking from a bottle. The person who directed the patrolman to the quartette informed him that two of the men had chipped in and purchased the liquor, and that they were having a big time with it. The patrolman made a raid on the party and conducted them to police headquarters, where their names were entered on the state docks. They were charged with furnishing liquor in a public place, and Hiram Ray was put down as the prosecuting witness. The case will be heard in police court this morning, and will be the first case of the kind.

Bound Over for Cheating and Swindling

Bound Over for Cheating and Swinds John Clark, a white man, was arraigned in police court yesterday morning and asked to police court yesterday morning and asked to enter a plea to the charge of disorderly conduct. Clark entered a plea of not guilty, and J. H. Shadden, the prosecuting witness, was sworn. Mr. Shadden said that Clark had applied to him for help to bury a child, and that he had said that several of his family were sick. The witness gave Clark some money and subsequently ascertained that Clark had deceived him. He then obtained Clark's arrest. Judge Anderson gave Clark a lecture, and then asked Clark to give him a hundred dollar bond for cheating and swirdling.

Street Car Drivers Fight.

Yesterday morning several street car drivers were witnesses in a case in police court. Soon after the case was disposed of the drivers began to quarrel among themselves, the quarrel originating in the evidence. After quarreling some time, two of them, Messrs, Balley and Martin, agreed to go outside the city and fight it out. They secured a leave of absence and met near the end of the track at Ponce de Leon and fought. In the fight another driver named Dumas took a hand, much to driver named Dumas took a hand, much to Holmes's annoyance. The fightdid not result in much harm to any one engaged, but when Holmes returned to the city he swore out warrants for Baily and Dumas and caused their Chief Connolly yesterday caused cases to be booked at police headquarters against Dave Hollis, 5. Decatur street, Theo. Schumann, H. Werner, W. H. Woolfolk and Richard Boeltcher, all at 63 Whitehall, charging them with violating the prohibition laws. These gentlemen have been disposing of liquor by the quart since the first and have, so the chief alleges, being allowing purchasers to drink it on the premises. The cases will probably be heard in police court this morning.

Drunk on Decatur Street. Addie Small and Sallie Solomon, two negro women, got drunk on Decatur street last night and raised a row with everybody who came near them. They were streeted by acting Captain Moss and given a Black Maria ride to police headquarters, where they were booked for drunk, discovering and constraints.
